F. D. GIVES 50 DESTROYERS TO BRITAIN

RECEIVED
U.S. DEPT. OF COMMERCE
SEP 3 1940

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—President Roosevelt notified Congress today of an agreement between the United States and Great Britain under which this country will lease naval and air bases in British possessions in the north and south Atlantic and transfer 50 over-age destroyers to Great Britain.

1—Here British convoy proceeds through Dover Straits

2—BOOM!—Suddenly Nazi shells, fired from French coast, land perilously close to two ships. Geysers of water shoot up.

3—The convoy steams on, as more shells scream across the channel and plump close, but harmlessly, in ships' midst.

4—As convoy steps up speed, shells land farther away. Here a shot strikes water some distance away. No damage was done.

AIR BLITZ FAILS; NAZIS GIVEN LIE

(H. R. Knickerbocker, International News Service's ace roving foreign correspondent, has just completed a 48-hour tour of British bomb-battered ports along the southeast coast. In the following dispatch, cabled from London, Knickerbocker vividly describes conditions in the cities that are receiving the brunt of the German aerial onslaught.)

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 3 (INS)—Great Britain is bleeding but unbowed. Chancellor Hitler's vicious air attacks on the southeast coast have been going on now three weeks and the German press boasts that Marshal Goering's Luftwaffe has utterly destroyed most of the cities and ports along this stretch of shore.

The fate of this island, and the ultimate decision of the war depends on whether or not enough destruction has been wrought in order to effect a total blockade.

During the last 48 hours, I have personally visited every port from Margate to Portsmouth, interviewed local police, air-raid wardens, and citizens, and obtained a complete panorama of conditions in this most severely assaulted part of England.

The summarized findings are that Britain has endured the worst air-raids in history—with the sole exception of Rotterdam—but that only 150 persons have been killed, and less than 500 injured in eight principal cities and ports on the southeast coast after three weeks of the fiercest aerial pounding.

1600 HOUSES DESTROYED
Approximately 1600 houses, 90 per cent of which are the homes of workers and small shop keepers, have been destroyed or damaged beyond repair. The harm done to military objectives, dock and harbor facilities is astonishingly small.

The principal ports continue to function despite German boasts they have knocked out Portsmouth and Southampton.

Nearly all the damage done along this coast has been done by day raiders and, in turn, 90 per cent of their shots seem unaimed and indiscriminate.

The effect on the population has been to enrage and embitter them and this war, which began with some people calling it "imperialist," has now become through the efforts of the Luftwaffe definitely a "poor man's war."

Britain's "little man," who has

War No Cure, 799,452 Britons Still Jobless

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The ministry of labor announced today the unemployed in Britain totaled 799,452 as of Aug. 12—a decrease of 27,814 within one month.

300 NAZI PLANES BEATEN BACK IN DOUBLE THRUST

By the Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 3—German air raiders, repulsed in one attempt to smash through London's air defenses, tried a second time early this afternoon amid mass assaults from the southeast coast to northeast Scotland.

An air raid alarm, London's second of the day and the 38th of the war, sounded at 2:50 p. m. The alarm lasted one hour and 10 minutes, ending at 4 p. m. after planes had been heard over the metropolitan area.

British and German planes fought spectacularly over the Thames Estuary, waterway to London, marking the first anniversary of Britain's going to war, this being one of the conflict's biggest air battles.

300 BEATEN BACK

Observers said at least 300 raiders were beaten off. In mid-afternoon the air ministry announced 23 attacking planes had been destroyed. It admitted the loss of 15 British planes but declared the pilots of eight were safe.

German-Italian Troops March to Rumania Sept. 15

BUCHAREST, Sept. 3 (AP)—German motorized divisions on Sept. 15 will take over protection of Rumania's South Bucovina border, newly formed by Rumania's cession of North Bucovina to Soviet Russia, informed sources said today.

The first line of defense against the possibility of any further Russian penetration in that area, they said, will be centered at Vatra Dornei, with Rumania's own forces dropping back to form a second line in the vicinity of Piatra Neamt. The reported date for German forces to take over is two days after Hungarian occupation of northern Transylvania, ceded by Rumania under the Axis' dictate, is slated to be completed.

CLASH WITH HUNGARIANS

Both Rumanian government and semi-official German sources said strong Nazi forces would be supplemented by some Italians as a token of Axis collaboration in the guarantees given King Carol's country in the Vienna arbitration last week.

Troubled conditions in northern Transylvania continued with clashes for possession of communications, railway stations and barracks reported in some places between armed Hungarian groups and Rumanian gendarmes and police.

From border town came reports of sporadic armed clashes with many injuries and some deaths.

Plans for military resistance against transfer to Hungary continued in northern Transylvania despite stern warnings.

GENERALS NAMED

Gen. Ien Antonescu has been made commander-in-chief of Transylvanian units and released from the monastery where he was confined after organizing armed opposition to the government after the Russian occupation of Bessarabia.

It was uncertain, however, whether he would side with Gen. Ion Dargocinschi, who sent word to Bucharest that he and his men would resist to the end although Rumanian troops are under orders to withdraw in preparation for Hungary's entrance into Transylvania Thursday.

A similar message came from Gen. Mihail Cornilescu, former minister of war, who also is stationed on the Transylvania frontier.

2 Girls Flee Dedham Court; Caught Again

Two girls, who declared they have no home addresses and gave police and officials their ages as "old enough to know better," escaped from Dedham courthouse today after being arraigned as vagrants.

House Battle Opens Over Draft Revision

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The House opened debate today on the precedent-breaking question of peacetime conscription, with both friend and foe of the legislation in virtual agreement on what the decision would be on the final rollcall.

A two-to-one vote victory was the forecast of Rep. May, (D.) of Kentucky, chairman of the House Military Committee, which prepared the modified version of the Burke-Wadsworth bill on which the House will act.

"I'm afraid we're licked," acknowledged Rep. Short, (R.), of Missouri, one of the chiefs of the forces opposed to a peacetime draft of the nation's manhood.

In the oratorical battle anticipated before the decisive vote is reached Friday or Saturday, the arguments for and against conscription were expected to duplicate the general tenor of those aired in the Senate before it approved the Burke-Wadsworth measure after three intensive weeks of debate.

CLASH OVER AGE

The major clashes were looked for on those sections of the modified House bill which differ from the version passed by the Senate.

The biggest difference is on the age limits fixed. The House bill would make all male citizens or prospective citizens from 21 through 41 subject to registration and liable for military service.

An approximate total of 24,000,000 men thereby would be affected. The Senate version would restrict operation of the draft to the 12,000,000 from 21 through 39.

Both Houses also disagree on the maximum number of conscripts to be permitted in service at one time. The House bill figure is 1,000,000, whereas the Senate voted for 900,000.

The girls, who gave their names as Lillian La Clair and Carolyn McNeil—each appearing to be about 21 years old—proved not to be so nimble-witted in other ways, however.

Within 15 minutes after the escape had been discovered, they were picked up again by Dedham police while walking along Bridge st., the main highway, toward the Dedham-Boston line.

This time they were successfully lodged in Dedham jail, where they had been destined when they fled the courtroom.

The girls first were taken into custody by Dedham police at 3 a. m. yesterday when they were walking southbound with two Marines.

When the girls would give only two names and refused ages and addresses, declaring they were going to New York to be married, they were taken to Dedham station. The Marines were allowed to go.

A charge of vagrancy was made against the girls, and when they were arraigned today, Judge Clifford B. Sanborn continued the case until Thursday and remanded them to jail.

A woman probation officer took the girls to a detention room in the basement to await the transfer, but 15 minutes later, when the probation officer returned, the door was open and the girls were gone.

An alarm was immediately sent out by Dedham police, but Patrolmen Thomas Brady and Stephen Murhead already had found them.

Parolee Goes on Trial as Killer

Joseph Brooks, 23, of New York, Sing Sing prison parolee, goes on trial in Superior Court at Dedham today charged with the murder of Patrolman Edward F. Lee of the Milton department.

Lee was shot outside Milton police headquarters May 16 in a desperate escape attempt by three youths captured after a stolen car chase.

8 ESCAPE DEATH IN SCAFFOLD FALL

Eight men narrowly escaped death today, although three were critically injured, when a scaffolding collapsed on an apartment building under construction at Fairbanks and Beacon sts., Brookline.

Allston Woman Dying of Burns

Believed by police to have fallen asleep while smoking, a 35-year-old Allston woman was so badly burned today doctors at City Hospital reported her dying.

The victim, Miss Frances Donahue of Commonwealth ave., Allston, ran screaming from her apartment into the hallway, then collapsed, unconscious.

Neighbors wrapped her in rugs and smothered the flames still smoldering in her clothing.

She was taken to City Hospital in the police ambulance. Examining physicians said she had first degree burns of arms, legs and body.

East Sets Calendar For Uniform Easter

DAMASCUS, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Orthodox Eastern Church, historical representative of Christian churches of the East, decided today to abandon the old Julian calendar in order to make its Easter celebration fall on the same date as that of Western Christendom.

Under the Julian calendar, supplanted in most of the world by the Gregorian calendar of Pope Gregory XIII in the 16th century, the Orthodox church's Easter fell from 11 to 13 days behind that celebrated elsewhere in the Christian world.

All eight workers were removed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, where doctors said three of them had possible broken backs and internal injuries from the two-story fall.

These three were Salvatore Drago, 36, of East Seventh st., South Boston; Agrippino Crescenzo, 55, of Eutaw st., East Boston; and James Vass, 42, of Oakburn ave., Roxbury.

The other five, who escaped with minor injuries, were Joseph Paterno, 33, of East Sixth st., South Boston; Joseph Mendes, 41, of Rochester st., South End; his brother, Antonio Mendes, 42, of Northampton st., Roxbury; Agrippino Angi, 59, of Unity st., North End; and Joseph Parry 41, of Hammond st., Roxbury.

Some of the men were laying bricks at the second floor when others in the group dumped a load of bricks from a wheelbarrow.

As the bricks landed the scaffolding gave way on one end, dropping all eight. Five of them, however, managed to break their fall by gripping uprights as they slid into them.

Then the uprights broke, however, and they too dropped to the ground.

U. S. Hospital Unit Arrives in Britain

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The first volunteer American hospital unit for service in Britain under the ministry of health arrived in England today.

2 ROCKS CRUSH MAN TO DEATH

A North Revere quarry worker was instantly killed today when two large rocks fell on him, broke his grip on the side of the quarry wall and carried him down 200 feet, crushing his body.

Three other workmen, within a few feet of the victim, escaped. The dead man was Sabino Nafetano, 38, father of two children, who resided in Salem st., North Revere.

Horried spectators to the tragedy, which took place at the Rose Contracting Co. quarry, were Crescenzo de Rosa, 35, of Bates st., Revere; Paula Venti, 35, of North Hudson st., North End, and Lorete Massi, 37, of George pl., Malden.

The men were working about 25 feet from the quarry's edge and 200 feet from the bottom, when, in some fashion yet unexplained, two large rocks at the top became loosened and rolled on Nafetano.

Dr. Morris Sacks of Revere pronounced Nafetano dead and the body was removed to the northern mortuary.

2 Guard Units Going to Texas

Two New England National Guard regiments will begin active duty at 12:01 a. m. on Sept. 16, and they will be sent to Camp Hulen, Texas, just outside Galveston, instead of to the Massachusetts Military Reservation at Falmouth, as had originally been announced.

The two regiments, according to a radiogram sent today to Maj. Gen. James A. Woodruff, commanding the first corps area, will be the First Corps Cadets—the 211th Coast Artillery of Massachusetts, anti-aircraft—and the 197th Coast Artillery of New Hampshire, anti-aircraft.

Two other New England regiments, scheduled to go on duty later and not yet named, will go to Falmouth.

Child Mental Tests Assailed

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 3 (AP)—Misuse of intelligence tests was charged before the American Ass'n of Applied Psychologists today by Dr. F. Kuhlmann, head of the Bureau of Mental Examiners, Division of Social Welfare, Department of School Security, St. Paul.

"Millions of children," he said, "have had their school careers adjusted solely on the basis of single groups of test scores. The inevitable mistakes made in this way have done more than anything else toward discrediting all mental tests, including individual examinations."

He declared that mental tests should never have been allowed in the hands of anyone not especially trained as a psychologist.

Shoots Victim Despite Mercy Plea

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (INS)—An unidentified gunman, disregarding the mercy pleas of his victim, shot down John Kennedy, 32, in a garage in the Bronx today. Kennedy died in Fordham Hospital.

Neighbors told police they saw the assailant run from the garage and escape in a car after the shooting.

Kennedy was heard to cry out: "Don't do that—oh, please don't—"

Three shots in rapid succession ended his ineffectual plea.

HOPKINS GRAND-DAD AGAI

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (INS)—Former Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins was a grandfather twice today following the birth of a daughter to his son's wife, Mrs. Cherry Preiser Hopkins child born to the couple in now 19 months old.

Hub Shoppers Flock Back Home to Buy

All-American fashions for every member of the family and the newest in home furnishings as well go on sale in Boston stores today as thousands came Back Home to Buy.

MODISH — Jane Hathaway wears a new beige coat with London-dyed squirrel collar and ripple border.

This Back Home to Buy period, which starts today, has been planned by the stores and these papers for weeks so that purchasing may be made simple, and at savings.

There is something of interest to every member of the family in this year's Back Home to Buy section of the Boston Evening American.

Father, back at the grind again, will want the mental "lift" that goes with new apparel, from shoes to hat, from socks to shirts.

Big Sister and Brother, whether they are returning to the campus, the office or the factory, will want to go hand in hand with the latest fashions.

The youngsters, returning to school, usually need "every thing."

AND MOTHER, TOO

And Mother, who must look after them all, of course will not forget herself when she goes a-shopping.

Nor is the home itself overlooked. The latest in furniture and household accessories, curtains, carpets, dishes, everything that goes to make a home out of just a house, is featured in these pages. There are many delightful surprises in store for all who want to be well dressed, particularly the ladies.

The ladies, for example, will find that the coiffure rules the hat this fall, the new hats making allowance for the pompadour. And later in the season, these same hats can be trimmed with veiling to make them even more alluring.

And ladies' shoes, what they lack in brilliant coloring will be made up for in finer detail.

Men will find more ease in the new fall suits, and the hats, generally speaking, will have a slightly wider brim.

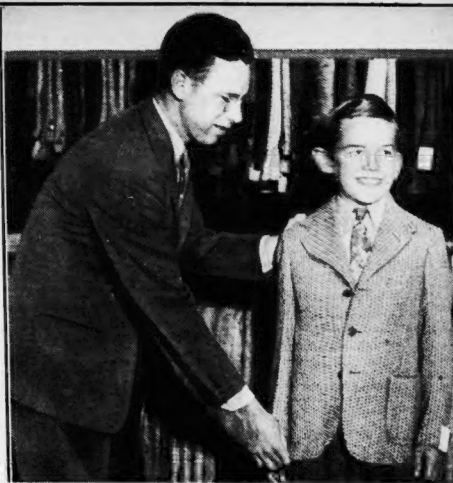

For campus wear young men will find a wide range of color and design in jackets and sport trousers.

STYLES ALL-AMERICAN

The new styles will be all-American, both in conception and execution. Paris no longer dictates America's styles.

For Missy the dominant color will range between gray and brown, with more emphasis on several new shades of brown. "Pheasant colors" or brown in combination.

NEW SUIT FOR JUNIOR—Richard Arnold of Somerville looks all smiles as he tries on suit for that school start. It's Back Home to Buy for Greater Bostonians and record season looms.

HERE'S BIG NEWS FOR THE YOUNG

Full length suits for boys and wool and gingham plaids for the girls are the very latest in back-to-school fashions this fall.

Style-wise mothers and daughters have already begun their annual shopping tour of Boston stores, and the big news for boys is that "longies" are in style for those from 6 to 13 years of age.

The nautical influence is one of the important trends in juvenile fashions and is noticeable in all kinds of apparel. There is also an increasing trend for matching outfits—for brother and sister and mother and daughter desiring to be dressed alike.

The fashions for girls call for strong colors, with the matching idea carried through from kindergarten to college age. Boys' suits are mostly in bright tweeds and plaids and with extra contrasting slacks to provide a sports ensemble.

Macinaws in bright plaids will be very popular for school wear this fall.

The "coach jacket" promises to be popular with boys for all-year-around wear.

2 CONVICTS TAKEN IN GRIM GUN DUEL

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark., Sept. 3 (AP)—Grim poses in widely separated sections of Arkansas and Louisiana pressed a hot chase today for scattered members of a band of 36 convicts who killed a guard and wounded another in a Labor Day escape from the Arkansas penitentiary here.

Two of the escaped, both ring-leaders, were captured after a 30-minute gun battle at Garland City in extreme southwestern Arkansas early today. No one was injured.

Another band of five armed convicts, cornered along a highway near Columbia, La., at about the same time, killed Frank Gartman, a posseman, while using three youthful hostages as shields.

FELONS SURROUNDED

These felons were reported surrounded by possmen this morning in swamplands north of Columbia. Pursuers caught a glimpse of some of the fugitives about 4 a. m. when they emerged from woods near a road four miles north of town, but fled back to shelter when they heard dogs barking.

It was believed they were trying to reach the highway to seize another automobile, and footprints beside the woods indicated the felons still were holding as hostages two girls and a boy they seized yesterday at Rayville, La.

Fear of harming these youths made officers hold their fire while they tried to draw closer around the fugitives.

Gartman, Columbia automobile dealer, was shot and killed when, as a citizen-deputy, he approached the parked automobile of the convicts shortly after midnight.

GIRL ABDUCTED

The abducted youths are Anna Laura Diamond, daughter of the Rayville marshal, Vencie Williams and Jerry Harnigle, all about 16 or 17 years old.

The four renegade trusties began disarming their fellow guards quietly, but violence broke when Frank Conley, 34, a rank man serving 21 years for robbery and kidnapping, attacked Troy Wade, a shotgun armed guard, with a knife. When Claud Martin, another guard, started to lift his rifle, Conley seized Wade's gun and shot Martin with both barrels, prison authorities said.

As Martin fell face downward, they added Percy Loftin, 25, a rifle-armed guard serving life plus 52 years for murder, kidnapping and robbery, shot Martin in the back. He died instantly. Wade was only slightly wounded by the knife attack.

Victim's Son Held In Dynamite Slaying

SCOTLAND, Conn., Sept. 3—A 58-year-old son and an 18-year-old neighbor confessed dynamiting wealthy 84-year-old George Garvin to death with an infernal machine planted in the family car, State Police Commr. Edward J. Hickey announced today.

After grilling the elderly farmer's only son, Charles Garvin, and the youth, John Shimanski, through the night, Commr. Hickey quoted the pair as coolly admitting: "Yes, we did it for his money." Garvin, owner of a 130-acre farm here, had just seated himself in the car to listen to the radio, as was his custom, when the diabolical device went off, Hickey said.

Arrested at the home later, the son and youth, according to Hickey, calmly denied the killing, but, after their alleged confession at the Danielson Police Barracks, were quoted as saying:

"We thought it would blow the car and old man to smithereens, and there'd be no evidence left."

The son himself pulled the wire which touched off the dynamite, Hickey charged.

The wire, which ran a distance of 30 feet from the car, had been attached to the car battery and the dynamite placed in the front seat of the coupe.

Crouching behind a tree, the son waited until the elderly father had turned on the radio and then yanked the wire, Hickey stated.

The youth meanwhile remained in the house, according to the alleged confession.

GIRL'S VOICE HAS 300 GOD-PARENTS

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 3 (AP)—The golden voice of petite, 17-year-old Barbara Ann Scully, has made some of her dreams come true and now her 300 god-parents can say "We told you so!" It was four years ago that Dr. Paul Hickey, director of education at the Detroit Institute of Technology, was speaker at graduation exercises at McMichael Intermediate School.

Part of the ceremony consisted of a song by flaxen-haired Barbara Ann, and when Dr. Hickey heard her voice he looked up with amazement. Finding out all he could about the singer, he awaited the next meeting of the adult Bible class of the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal Church, which he teaches. The 300 class members promptly decided to "adopt" Barbara Ann by financing her musical education.

Three years of serious study followed. Critics say Barbara Ann's ability assures a happy future—which means comic opera or Hollywood if the 17-year-old has anything to say about it.

Pedlar Faces Court In Bottle Murder

David Goodman, 34, West End pedlar, faced court today in connection with the murder of Mrs. Mary Stevenson, 59, whose body was found in his room in Lynde st., West End.

Goodman, widower and father of two boys, was booked on a charge of suspicion of murder after hours of questioning by police of the Joy street station brought an alleged confession.

Police termed the woman's death "torture" murder, asserting she was attacked and killed with an empty bottle. Medical Examiner William J. Brickley declared the victim died of internal and external hemorrhages.

According to Goodman's story, as recorded by Police Stenographer William Shannahan, Mrs. Stevenson, who is employed as a maid in the Lynde st. rooming house, came to his room and told him she had taken a bottle of liquor which he had been saving.

Goodman said an argument ensued, and finally, in a fit of rage, he snatched the empty bottle from Mrs. Stevenson and attacked her with it. He said, according to police, he also struck her about the head and face with his fists.

In his confession, as quoted by police, Goodman said he left Mrs. Stevenson lying on the bed, and went to Brighton, where he picked up his two boys, one 9 and the other 12, and took them for a ride in a friend's car.

Youth Accused At Hospital

After applying voluntarily for treatment at City Hospital, a Jamaica Plain youth suddenly admitted armed holdups and larceny in the Greater Boston district, police said today.

Four warrants were served on the suspect, Donald Connors, 20, of Sedgewick st., who had appeared at the hospital after fracturing his ankle while stepping off a street car.

He was transferred to the hospital cell block. Police said Connors had been sought since Aug. 1 in connection with holdups.

Forgot He Was On a Vacation!

A certain South Boston policeman, who would rather have his name omitted was vacationing today after making a false start. In fact, brother officers had to shoot him out of the station to get him going.

Arriving for roll call, the dapper patrolman brushed his uniform, tilted his hat at a natty angle and stepped into inspection line. He just couldn't understand all the smiles.

But he understood quick enough when a superior officer told him to fall out, go home and begin the vacation which he apparently had forgotten all about.

Brothers Warned For Movie Thriller

Two South End brothers, 13 and 14, tried to sneak in a move in the theatrical district and precipitated a chase as wild as some in make-believe Hollywood.

While climbing a fire escape in the vicinity of Boylston st., the boys were espied by a citizen. Believing the youngsters were burglars, several police surrounded the building while others made their way to the roof and seized the pair. After a warning at Milk st., station, the boys were sent home.

2 Boys Face Court In Stolen Car Chase

Two Charlestown boys, 13 and 11 years of age, faced court in Charlestown today in the aftermath of a stolen automobile chase in which the older boy leaped into the Mystic river in Everett.

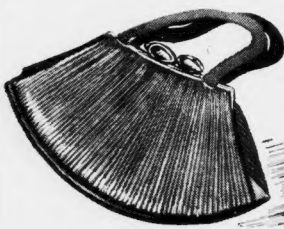

Warnings by Patrolman Edward Conley of the Everett police persuaded the boys to come back to shore. The younger of the pair gave up on the bank of the stream.

10 Nazi Refugees Riot On Ship, Blast U. S.

Permitted to return to their native United States after fleeing Germany, a group of refugee youths fought fist fights in espousing Naziism on the ship American Legion, en route here from Petsamo.

That today was the story of Miss Martha Oster of Lynnfield Center in commenting on the stormy crossing. She said the youths were United States citizens.

Capt. Torning issued orders that there were to be no political discussions aboard ship, she said.

"We were hardly aboard," the girl continued, "when these young men, who said they were Nazis in spite of their passports saying they are U. S. citizens, began to protest against Crown Princess Martha of Norway and her children being taken on board."

CRITICIZE AMERICA

"They began preaching Naziism and praising Hitler, both to the other refugees and the crew members. They openly criticized the United States and the captain for taking Princess Martha. The captain threatened to put them ashore after they were in several fights, but as soon as we were at sea they were airing their Hitler ideas again."

Miss Oster said that, as she travelled from Stockholm, where she was a secretary in a branch office of the Goodyear Tire Co., she saw ruins of Finnish cities bombed by Russian planes. She said she saw the litter of Bolsheviki camps above the Arctic circle, and evidence of their venom toward the Finns.

"At one place they camped in a cemetery. They sliced down all the headstones and smashed them, desecrated the graves, and left awful mounds of filth and litter behind. The Finns, however, are cleaning up and rebuilding their cities."

In Sweden, she said, the fuel problem has reached a stage where no running hot water is permitted, even in hotels. No travel is allowed from city to city in Sweden except by train, as a precaution against fifth columnists and for fuel economy.

NAB SPIES BY HUNDREDS

Hundreds of spies have been caught and interned or deported, she said.

A single cake of soap, a pound of sugar and a pound of tea are rations for one person a month. Everyone rides bicycles.

GONSALVES ELECTED

Albert M. Gonsalves of Fairhaven, is the new president of the Portuguese-American Civic League of Massachusetts, which closed its three-day convention at Longfellow School, Cambridge.

Police Search Harbor For Condon's Auto

A large squad of officers today began a search of the harbor edge for the missing car of Malcolm L. Condon, 36, Roxbury fuel and ice dealer, whose body was found off Lincoln wharf Thursday.

Condon was reported last seen when he drove away from his Fort ave., Roxbury, home on Aug. 21, headed for the Revere dog track with between $75 and $100 in his pockets. There was only $2.05 in his wallet when the body was found.

Vacation Days Ended As School Days Return

Vacation days were over today for thousands of Greater Boston youngsters, with school days just around the corner.

Tomorrow school openings are scheduled in Belmont, Braintree, Chelsea, Lexington, Melrose, Reading, Quincy, Stoneham, Waltham, Weymouth and Winthrop. The following day the schools of Hingham, Norwood, Somerville and Wellesley open.

Schools in Arlington, Brookline, Cambridge, Canton, Everett, Malden, Newton, Revere, Wakefield, Watertown and Woburn do not open until Sept. 9. Dedham, Medford and Winchester schools open on the 10th.

Boston and Randolph youngsters are scheduled to start Sept. 12. Most of the parochial schools are not opening until next week, with the Boston parochial schools opening on the same day as the public schools.

KNOX HAWAII-BOUND

ARLEEN MARRIED TO D'ARCY

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Sept. 3 (AP)—Arleen Whelan and Alexander D'Arcy, both of the movies, were married in a hotel suite by Judge A. J. Nelson. The couple motored here from Hollywood and started their return trip soon after the ceremony.

Miss Whelan, who was born in Salt Lake City and lived in Colorado and Idaho before coming to California, is 28, and D'Arcy is 31. He is a New Yorker. Miss Whelan, a red-head of the Janet Gaynor type, was a manicurist in a Hollywood hotel when the movies found her.

Before her name became romantically linked with that of D'Arcy, she and dimpled Richard Greene, young British actor, were seen frequently in Hollywood night spots and a romance between the pair was hinted.

At one time David Selznick seriously considered her for the role of Scarlett O'Hara in G. W. P. W. She even learned most of the important roles and was placed under the tutelage of a Southern plantation.

Early in her career she almost became a Hollywood "might-have-been" due to a premature buildup. Lack of experience and a succession of poor roles nearly sent her back to the manicurist's shop where she started.

Soon after, however, she started to attend a Hollywood drama school and things began to look up. Then a few substantial roles came her way and before long she was on top of the Hollywood heap.

Police Seek Girl Burglar

A girl burglar was sought today by Newton police probing three holiday week-end house break.

The girl, about 17, was reported seen near the home of Mrs. Arthur Bradlee, of Hammond st., before the forced entrance of the chauffeur's building there.

Thieves also broke into the caretaker's cottage on the Louis K. Liggett estate on Hammond st., and took $15, and at the home of Julius Krinsky of Woodchester dr., Newton Center, where clothing and silver comprised the loot.

Tinkham Announces Military Exams

Examinations to determine his appointment of one youth to West Point and two to Annapolis will be held in Boston Oct. 5, it was announced by Cong. George Holden Tinkham.

Nominees must never have been married and must be citizens and actual residents of the district. Candidates for West Point must not be under 17 nor over 22 on July 1, 1941, while candidates for the naval academy must have reached their 20th birthday on or before March 31, 1941.

French Islands Plan Plebiscite

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Sept. 3 (AP)—The French island possessions of Martinique and Guadeloupe in the Caribbean Sea intend to hold a plebiscite to determine whether to continue under the Vichy government or switch to the "free" government of Gen. Charles De Gaulle in London, according to reports reaching here today.

(French equatorial Africa has changed its allegiance to the De Gaulle banner as well as New Caledonia, islands in the south Pacific.)

Boy, Two Sisters Drown in Rio Grande

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 3 (AP)—While their mother looked on helplessly from the river bank, a 20-year-old girl and her younger brother and sister drowned in the Rio Grande.

Deputy sheriffs recovered the body of Refugia Hernandez, 20, but were unable to locate the bodies of Petra, 12, and Jose, 9.

Charles E. Starkey Heads State Moose

Charles E. Starkey of Lynn today sessions of the organization in was State president of the Massachusetts Moose Association. Charles Utrass of Roslindale was chosen to succeed Frank E. Brown elected to a three-year term as of Everett at concluding business secretary-treasurer.

BRIDE — Arleen Whelan, filmster who almost played Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind," today was the bride of Alexander D'Arcy, screen actor, after a whirlwind trip to Las Vegas, Nev. They motored to marital resort from Hollywood.

Boy State to Get Big Slice of N. Y. A. Fund

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—The National Youth Administration today notified the states that part of the fund would be given an average of about $200,000 to $300,000 during the coming school year. The money available for New England states was as follows: Massachusetts, $100,000; Connecticut, $129,544; Maine, $67,830; New Hampshire, $11,013; Rhode Island, $63,773 and Vermont, $50,001.

HEARING OPEN ON TAX BILL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Looking for a greater revenue yield and a stiffer tax on actual war profits, several members of the Senate Finance Committee discussed today the desirability of recasting the House-approved excess profits tax bill.

As the committee started hearings, Senator George (D.) of Georgia, one of its members, told reporters he did not consider the measure a "true excess profits tax bill" because "it imposes a tax on all income whether normal or even sub-normal if the earnings exceed the limits fixed by the bill."

The bill's tax section, to which he referred, would levy a tax of from 20 to 50 per cent on profits in excess of the "normal return of a company during the base years 1936-1939. All firms would be subject to the tax, regardless of whether the profits resulted from government contracts.

The bill also would liberalize existing amortization regulations and suspend existing profit limitations on government warship and aircraft contracts—two steps which defense authorities have declined essential to get the industries concerned into maximum production.

Senator George criticized the House tax formula, as "a tax on bigness and on what some of our social-minded theorists regard as excessive earnings, whether those earnings are abnormal, normal or subnormal."

Hearings on the completed legislation with nearly a score of industrial and other spokesmen waiting to testify the first day, Chairman Harrison (D.-Miss.) said representatives of the treasury and the defense commission would be heard tomorrow, and 40 other witnesses on Thursday.

Harrison said that the committee probably would have its version of the bill ready for the Senate by Monday. He termed the amortization provision and the suspension of profit limitations the most important parts of the legislation.

British Admit 16 Ships Sunk

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Admiralty announced today that 16 merchant ships, 13 of them British, were destroyed by "enemy action" during the week ended Aug. 26. They totaled 79,750 tons.

This total compared with an average weekly loss of 52,840 tons since the start of the war, the Admiralty said, but was below the average of 68,700 tons since May 27, when Germany intensified her war on shipping.

German losses total approximately 623,000 tons and Italian losses 273,000 tons since the outbreak of war, the Admiralty asserted.

"Enemy" claims to have sunk 163,964 tons of shipping during the week under review were declined to be "considerably over twice the actual recorded losses."

In a review of the first year of war at sea, a naval spokesman said enough action had been seen to prove that the chances of a successful air attack against an efficient fleet, either at sea or in harbor, are small.

"We have found our ships better in construction and operation than pre-war estimates," he said. "They have proved their value in every test."

Grumbling Aliens Urged to Leave U. S.

Fault-finding aliens should pack up their bags and return to their native lands.

So it was declared by the veteran William H. O'Brien, public relations director of WPA, who spoke at Boston Common Labor Day exercises of the Boston Central Labor Union.

"I have heard a lot of grumbling among some people lately about the way things are being conducted in this country, and I am going to say to you what I said to them," said O'Brien.

"If there are any of you who are not Americans and you don't like the way we do things in this country, pack up your bags and get out. There are boats sailing every day which will take you to whatever country you would be satisfied to live in."

PLEDGES LABOR AID

O'Brien, who is 76 years old, told his hearers he had been in labor movements for 59 years, and declared that labor would always stand with the state and nation for liberty, freedom and justice.

Similar sentiments were expressed by John J. Kearney, president of the Boston Central Labor Union and master of ceremonies at the meeting.

"I can declare with emphatic assurance that the Boston Central Labor Union will stand firm in its allegiance to our government and institutions for the defense and preservation of liberty, freedom and justice," he said.

"May this Labor Day be consecrated to a renewal of our oath of allegiance to our government as members of the American Federation of Labor and the formation of a united purpose pledged to serve the cause of democracy and freedom to continue our individual and collective living."

WOULD LIST CRAFTSMEN

Mayor Tobin extended the greetings of the City of Boston, and outlined the history of the labor movement, in which he said Boston was in the vanguard.

Chief speaker was Henry C. Her, director of organization, American Federation of Government Employees. In a lengthy address dealing with the accomplishments of the American Federation of Labor, he denounced "subversive forces" which he claimed are seeking to take advantage of emergency conditions to depress working and living standards.

In an effort to solve the unemployment problem, he suggested the mobilization and registration of skilled workers forced into other trades and callings, with the idea of bringing them back to industry.

"We believe, however," he said, "that this action should not be taken until those who are idle (eight or nine million of them now) are accorded an opportunity to secure work and earn a decent living. We believe that our first duty is to absorb the unemployed at the prevailing rates of pay."

"It is quite probable that dark days lie ahead for us," said Her, referring to the present emergency. "Perhaps at no time in the history of our nation has there ever been a more imminent threat against our democratic institutions as we know them, and as we live by them. We, of the American Federation of Labor, believing sincerely in the Constitution of the United States, will co-operate in the defense of our country and its democratic principles. We value our freedom and our national integrity and we will cherish and protect them from invasion and destruction. We will sacrifice to the death, if need be, to defend them."

S. R. O.—So great was the crowd that flocked to the New York World's Fair over the week-end that hotel accommodations were scarce and these three maids were compelled to sleep in their car.

400 Families Flee As Flood Perils Dam

MILLVILLE, N. J., Sept. 3 (AP)—Thousands of tons of water pressed relentlessly today against a 73-year-old concrete and earthen dam protecting this factory town of 15,000 from flood-swollen Union Lake. More than 400 families left their homes in fear the dam would break.

Five hundred volunteers worked throughout the night reinforcing the structure with sandbags as the water continued to rise.

Atop the 40-foot-high structure eight state troopers kept a night-long vigil with rocket flares to signal townspeople at the first sign of danger.

Traffic between the east and west sides of Millville, located in south-central New Jersey about 60 miles from Philadelphia, was cut off before midnight when the Maurice river washed out both approaches of the Sharpe street concrete bridge and swept away the east approach of a steel "turntable" crossing.

The crisis at Millville climaxed a week-end in which torrential rain flooded scores of New Jersey communities, killing at least five persons and causing millions of dollars damage.

Gatti-Casazza Is Dead in Italy

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (INS)—The death in Ferrara, Italy, of Giulio Gatti-Casazza, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company for 27 years before his retirement in 1935, was reported today in a cablegram received in New York by Mrs. Frances Alda, his former wife.

Gatti-Casazza was 71 years old. Word of his death came from members of his family in Ferrara, his birthplace.

The former Metropolitan impresario left the United States in 1935 upon his retirement. During the many years he headed the famous organization he compiled an unparalleled career in operatic annals as a director of grand opera.

Lodge Says Draft Will Save Lives

LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 3 — The burden of conscription should fall on rich and poor alike, said U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., in a Labor Day address to Legionnaires of three counties in this section.

Lodge asserted he has received letters from men "who say they are ready to serve as soon as war breaks out."

"They will not live to serve very long," he commented, "if they join the colors only when the war breaks out. If they are to survive in modern times, they must be trained beforehand."

1,000,000 NEW JOBS, SAYS SECY. PERKINS

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, in Boston, reported an increase of more than 1,000,000 in non-agricultural employment in the last year.

This employment, she said in a Labor Day message prepared for broadcasting, "is some 9,000,000 greater than it was seven years ago, exclusive of 2,000,000 men and women on WPA."

She forecast that employment and payrolls would continue CCC and NYA tasks to rise in the coming months as industries expand under the comprehensive defense program.

Miss Perkins reported at the same time that the year had seen a marked improvement in industrial relations and that wage earners were co-operating in carrying out defense tasks.

She disclosed that her department had initiated an industrial accident-prevention campaign to reduce labor wastage through work injuries on defense jobs.

HELP FROM EXPERTS

The secretary said a group of experts in accident prevention, appointed special agents by the department, stood ready to go into shops and factories at request, appraising existing health and safety exposures and giving them the best advice as to how to correct or control these exposures.

"Their activity will bring into play along our entire defense production line specialized engineering facilities which may be expected to wipe out that persistent enemy to the smooth flow of production, disabling injuries to trained workers," she said.

Reporting that non-agricultural employment had increased by a million a year, Miss Perkins said that "factory payrolls alone show a rise of nearly $22,000,000 weekly."

"In March, 1933, she added, 'total non-agricultural employment was 26,653,000. The latest available figure, that of July, 1940, puts such employment at 35,600,000. In the same period factory payrolls showed an increase of $110,000,000 weekly.'"

Declaring that strike activities for July, 1940, were much lower than a year ago, the Secretary reported decreases of 20 per cent.

Col. Graham Dies in Waban

Col. George F. Graham, 63, retired Boston business executive and holder of the Distinguished Service Medal, is dead, of a heart ailment at his home in Waban.

Born in Lancaster, Pa., he was general manager of a hardware firm at Helena, Mont., from 1906 until he enlisted in the army during the World War.

A intimate friend of the late Sen. Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, he was the only Montana resident chosen staff officer of the Rainbow Division. He served as lieutenant-colonel in the quarter-masters corps.

After he resumed his civilian career, he made his home in Boston and became general manager of the Atlantic Coast Hardware Co. Later he was chosen general manager of the Felix Vorenberg Co., where he was associated until his retirement several years ago. His widow and two sons survive. Funeral services will be held from the Waban residence tomorrow at 2 p. m., with burial in Newton Cemetery.

IMPROVED BAY STATE HIGHWAYS EASE LABOR DAY TRAFFIC JAMS

Massachusetts' improved highways today were credited with handling the biggest Labor Day throng in history with but little of the congestion and long delays of other years.

Railroads, airlines, steamship and bus lines were forced to exert their greatest efforts with placing of extra sections on regular runs and added cars and boats to handle the enormous traffic.

Highways, although heavily traveled with constant lines of swiftly moving autos, were handled more smoothly than in other years, state police reported.

Thousands of persons alarmed by reports of an advancing tropical storm with threat of rain and sales had hurried home Sunday night and early yesterday morning, were responsible for the better road conditions, and this also made the Sunday task easier.

It was estimated that more than 500,000 persons entered or departed from Boston yesterday, as only a part of the millions on the move throughout New England.

At East Boston airport 60 planes were run between Boston and New York, a plane dropping to the field or taking off every 10 minutes between 3 and 10:30 p. m. The 9:15 p. m. plane was run in five sections with planes taking off every 15 minutes until 10:30 p. m.

The Boston & Maine put extra sections or extra cars on all its regular passenger runs and operated added trains, to handle the throngs, with every available bus in service to help.

Cuban Mayor Killed Resisting Tax Arrest

HAVANA, Sept. 3 (INS)—Acting Mayor Carlos Ramon of suburban Guanabacoa was shot and killed today during a gun battle in which he resisted attempts of Cuban soldiers to arrest him on charges of stealing public tax funds.

Ar. y Sergt. Antonio Correa, who shot Ramon, was severely wounded in the gun fray.

Police reported that Ramon and an accomplice, Daniel Garcia, had been caught breaking up a tax strong-box. Garcia, according to police, confessed to similar previous thefts.

Green Urges F. D. R. Give Facts on Draft

DENVER, Sept. 3 (AP)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor urged today that President Roosevelt tell Congress what "the 11-man-power needs of the nation's military forces" are and recommend "a definite program to fulfill these needs" before further action is taken toward conscription.

Green proposed short-term voluntary enlistments and higher military pay to build the nation's armed forces "in the traditional American way." Conscription, he added, should be employed only if those expedients fail.

GOES ON AIR

"We say to our government: 'We do not know what this is all about. We are not obstructionists. We are patriotic Americans. Give us the facts. Show us frankly why conscription is needed.'"

Green made that assertion in his annual Labor Day address, prepared for delivery at the Western conference of the International Amateurs Union, largest of A. F. of L. affiliates.

BE DENOUNCED

The labor leader coupled his attack on conscription with a plea for all possible American help to Britain "short of entry into the war." He pledged that the Federation, realizing that "at a time like this industrial conflict would be stupid and dangerous," would assume its full responsibilities in the defense program. He also renewed charges that Communists exercised influence and power in the rival Congress for Industrial Organizations.

Green assailed the pending Burke-Wadsworth Conscription Bill as a measure "sponsored by men who do not enjoy the full confidence of organized labor." "It was not drafted by the administration, but by men who have consistently opposed the administration," he said. "The bill has been so widely amended from day to day that the American people have not been able to keep up with its manifold changes... We have no more confidence in it than in its sponsors."

MESSAGE NEEDED
"On a matter as vital as this to the nation's welfare, we feel that it is the duty of the President of the United States to send a message to Congress stating the man-power needs of the nation's military forces and recommending a definite program to fulfill these needs."

He predicted "thousands who are now hesitant would flock to the colors" if they were offered enlistment for a year or a year and a half, "a guarantee that recruits will not be called upon to serve in a European war," and reasonable increases in military pay.

The government, he said, has made a "solemn pledge" that labor's gains will not be scuttled to satisfy the greed of war profiteers.

2 BRAVE GIRLS TRAP ATTACKERS

Two 14-year-old Negro boys, belonging to a series of attacks on women and girls in the Fenway, faced charges in Roxbury juvenile court today.

The boys were arrested through the courage of two Brookline girls, who, together with two Roxbury girls, identified the pair as their attackers in a lonely section near the Art Museum.

After bragging that they had waited nightly in the shabby tenement for a series of assaults, most of which police said had gone unreported.

Ruth Manning, 24, of Pond ave., and Mary Reardon, 22, of Villa lane, Brookline, when reporting the first attack, which they successfully beat off, were told by police to ring a citizen's alarm if again bothered.

Eleanor Spagnoli, 15, and Grace Carter, 16, both of Parker st., Roxbury, who had beaten off an attempted attack by the youths, also identified the pair in a lineup at the station yesterday.

Eden Warns Britain Still Faces Invasion

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—War Secretary Anthony Eden, in an anniversary message to the nation today, said "it would be most foolish to suppose that, because autumn approaches, the threat of invasion is already passed."

Addressing the national defense public interest committee at a luncheon, Eden continued:

"The contrary is the fact. There is no shred of evidence to show that Hitler has abandoned his declared intention to seek to subdue this country by invasion."

He observed, however, that, with the battle of Britain still beating "about our ears," August was "for us in many respects the best month of this fighting year."

NEEDS MORE WEAPONS

Then he sounded the warning to Britons not to be less alert.

"At any moment," he declared, "fighting may begin on a large scale in the Middle East," where both the British and the Italians have large forces.

He emphasized the strides Britain has made in armaments, but added:

"There is no weapon in its armory of which the army does not ask for more."

"There is plenty of evidence to cause us to be especially watchful during these next few weeks."

"Vigilance is as compelling a duty today as it has been at any time in these last three months. To watch and ward is our instruction, not as troops that hold passively a defensive line, but as an army waiting to spring should the foe come within our grasp."

WONT STAND ALONE

"In some respects today our position is the most enviable of any in our history. There are times when it is good to stand alone, especially when you know that you are not going to stand like that forever, and we know that."

"Every nation that Hitler has overrun is his unwilling victim. 'At the propaganda in the world will not make a man who has once tasted true liberty accept as genuine the Goebbels substitute. In this country today are contingents, and they are growing contingents, from the armies of all those peoples under Hitler's rule. They are our comrades."

PRaises CHURCHILL

Eden praised Prime Minister Winston Churchill, remarking:

"Nothing could have equalled his courage at the darkest hour. He is a true warrior, brave and fertile in expedients, ever cool and watchful."

The War Secretary declared. "Defense works have been pushed forward at immense speed."

"In contrast with three months ago, they represent a national transformation."

Eden also noted that "the RAF, by its splendid gallantry, strikes the prelude for victory," but added, "It is the army that must deal the final blow."

Old Lady Luck Of Dover Sees War's Close-up

A SOUTHEAST COAST ENGLISH TOWN, Sept. 3 (AP)—A little old lady who nurses shelter in the air raid maw of Rope Walk, Dover's front line in Nazi aerial assaults.

"Nothing can happen to us while she's here," her neighbors say.

From a window in her cottage, one of a row straddling the cliffs at the west of the harbor, she watched the air battles over the English channel.

Efforts to get her to abandon her grandstand seat for the war have been unavailing, despite showers of bullets from Messerschmitts taking potshots at barrage balloons, cascades of splinters and the crash of British coastal defense guns.

"I'm well over 70," she says. "I want to see the fun—all of it. My time will come when it must."

Japan in Proposal To Philippines

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (INS)—A German short-wave radio broadcast tonight stated that Japan had approached the Philippines, Manchukuo, Dutch East Indies, French Indo-China and China with a proposal to establish a postal union, according to the National Broadcasting Co.

Britain Admits Kenya Withdrawal

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—British forces have retired southward from Buna, in Kenya Colony on the Ethiopian frontier, London military circles acknowledged today in confirming previous Italian reports to this effect.

22 WILLKIE, ADVISORS CONFER

EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1940

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Sept. 3 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie began today a series of political conferences which will culminate Thursday with a campaign meeting of Republican leaders from 22 Eastern and Midwestern States and the District of Columbia.

The Republican presidential nominee will discuss with the group plans for organizing party workers for the Nov. 5 election.

Then he will sit at the head table at a luncheon in the Masonic Hall, prepared for the Republican officials by members of the Order of Eastern Star. There will be plenty of fried chicken and cream gravy, with big tureens of mashed potatoes.

Willkie worked on campaign addresses yesterday, talked with friends and appeared occasionally on his front porch to wave to crowds of visitors. Mrs. Willkie who was called out of the house and smilingly acknowledged applause.

MARTIN SEEKS PROBE OF F. D. SPEECH TOUR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—A Senatorial investigation has been demanded by Chairman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of the Republican National Committee, to determine if President Roosevelt's trip to the Tennessee Valley was paid for out of public funds.

"Is the cost of his special train and his staff of aides being charged to the United States treasury, or, as it should be, to the Democratic National Committee?" Martin asked yesterday in a statement.

The Democratic national committee made no immediate reply, and Stephen Earle, White House secretary aboard the President's special train, said: "It is a non-political trip."

Martin said that the Senate committee for investigation of campaign expenditures should ascertain who paid for the trip.

Australia To Build New Fighting Craft

MELBOURNE, Sept. 3 (AP)—Prime Minister or Robert G. Menzies announced today that 50 naval vessels are to be built in Australia "to defend shipping from submarines, aircraft and mines."

It is planned to complete the ships next year, Menzies said. Seven shipyards now engaged in naval construction are to be augmented by others.

Kelly Demands Facts In Recent El Probe

Give the public the "sensational" facts—or I will.

Such was the threat which went out today from former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly to Chairman Charles M. Storey of the Boston Finance Commission, which recently probed the Boston El setup.

Accusations that facts were being withheld until after the November election were also flung by Kelly in a letter to Storey.

"Your boss, Gov. Saltonstall (whom I will again defeat this November) is very familiar with the Boston Elevated situation and he unquestionably agrees with your policy of suppressing the information already obtained by you," Kelly wrote.

"I am familiar with many of the sensational facts that have been uncovered, and I am convinced that you are withholding these scandalous facts until after the November election in order to repay Governor Saltonstall for appointing you to this position."

"If you continue to withhold this important information I shall publicly disclose the facts within the next two weeks to the public."

A LAWYER BECOMES A "BUSINESS MAN"

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee)

The trump card in the Willkie deck is the assertion that he is a hard-headed business man with a lifetime of experience in plant management and industrial production. This creates a pleasing image with the public.

If it were true, then Willkie would rank up with those giants of industry like Henry Ford, William S. Knudsen, and a host of others who have captured the imagination of the world by their mastery of the technique of mass production.

Political puffing is an old device and the Willkie propaganda battery ranks with the best. With the emphasis now on defense and the need for speed, the idea of replacing the "starry-eyed" idealists of the Roosevelt Administration with a business "realist" has a distinct popular appeal.

THE ADOPTED BOY

As Mr. Willkie is the least known of all the men who ever ran for the Presidency, this clever touch of campaign artistry has gone over fairly well. The only flaw in the argument is that it just isn't so.

For Mr. Willkie is not primarily a business man but an adroit lawyer and special advocate who has spent the adult years of his life pleading the cause of the private power industry. Until he assumed the presidency of the Commonwealth & Southern Corporation about seven years ago, he had no business experience at all. He was a corporation lawyer in Ohio, appearing before state regulatory bodies in behalf of his clients. After that his main job was to take care of the financial end of this vast utility holding company. The average executive who has managed the affairs of a department store, of a newspaper, an oil business or a shoe manufacturing plant has had far more acquaintance with actual business than Mr. Willkie.

BUSINESS OR FINANCE?

In the first place the power industry is not a competitive industry in the customary acceptance of that term, but a private monopoly with its output highly stabilized because of the ever-increasing demand for electric power on the part of new consumers. The work of producing this power rests not on holding companies like Commonwealth & Southern but on the various operating companies which it controls. The holding company is concerned chiefly with financial problems. This explains why Commonwealth & Southern had its offices in Wall Street while the operating companies were servicing customers in Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, and a number of States in the deep South.

Before he bounced into the limelight as the Republican nominee for President, Mr. Willkie always confined himself to the legal and financial side of the private power business. He never attempted to pose as an expert on production or distribution. When he appeared before a committee of Congress in opposition to the Wheeler-Rayburn Bill, outlawing holding companies, he testified that the real reason for the existence of holding companies was to provide adequate financing for the subsidiary operating companies. He said the only place to do this properly was in Wall Street.

A "BUSINESS-MAN" PRESIDENT

The mere fact that a man had achieved greatness in the important field of industrial mass production would hardly be enough to qualify him for the Presidency in a time of acute national emergency. No one questions the genius of Henry Ford or the efficiency of his motor plant built up through many years of painstaking care and effort but Mr. Ford has been something less than successful in his few, brief excursions into the field of public affairs. In fact, a business executive, grown used to absolute authority in the management of his company, is seldom fitted for the necessary give and take of political life. A production genius like William S. Knudsen is far more valuable to national defense when he is left free to do that job alone than he would be if burdened with the policy-making responsibilities of the White House.

In any event, the industrial expert tag on Mr. Willkie is out of place. It takes far more than words to transform a debating financier into a production wizard. Whether Mr. Willkie managed his holding company with outstanding success will be discussed in future instalments.

PERSONALITIES ARE ISSUES!

By CARLISLE BARGERON

(Assigned by Republican National Committee)

We get a lot of letters telling us to keep away from personalities. It would certainly make this work more pleasant if we could do so.

But the fact is that personalities are paramount in this campaign. You are being asked to go in for PERSONAL government.

It is the first time in the history of this country that you have been asked to do this. The Russians are ruled by Stalin and the clique around him. Germany is ruled by Hitler and the clique around him. We are being asked to turn over our Government to Mr. Roosevelt and the clique around him.

They're All Big Shots

In this case, personalities are important. It is essential that you know the whims and foibles and the weaknesses of these men. It is essential that you realize that they are just men—some of them with more than ordinary ability, some of them with very average ability indeed—and none of them SUPERMEN.

You may say that we will have Congress to serve as a check in the event Mr. Roosevelt is elected to a third term. You will, indeed, have a Congress on the payroll, just as Germany has a Reichstag on the payroll.

But you will have no appreciable number of Congressmen with the hardihood to oppose him in anything he undertakes. These Congressmen will have seen a steady concentration of power in Mr. Roosevelt's hands over a period of seven years. Now, they will have seen him returned to office for a third term. They will rightfully assume that the way to hold their jobs, and they have to face the voters every two years, is not to BUCK Mr. Roosevelt any longer. They will fall over themselves to play ball.

Mr. Roosevelt, himself, would make no claim to unusual administrative ability. Indeed, after the landslide he received in 1936, he was discussing it with Jim Farley and he observed that he could have made a better campaign against himself than the Republicans did.

And when Jim asked how, he replied, administration. "That's where we are weak—in administration," he said, though these are not intended as his exact words.

It is a fact that a day seldom passes that there is not an awful fight going on in one of the countless bureaus he has set up. He has little or no control over them. The subordinates do pretty much as they please. They are little

The Bureaucrats Are Cocky

Governments unto themselves. Perhaps you think these things do not affect you. They cause chaos and agitation in the world of industry and business and that keeps people from getting jobs, or having jobs, from getting raises.

Thus, it is impossible to escape the personalities. The late Senator Borah made it a point never to mention a name in his debates. He discussed issues, not men.

In this campaign men are issues—the men and their motives. To the limit of our ability we intend to tell you about them as we know them from having lived with and associated with them.

For example, our opponent the other day printed the picture of a warship and told about how much Mr. Roosevelt had built up our Navy.

It is a fact that among the many toys he has had to play with in Washington—next to people—he has liked to play with the Navy most. Toy battleships fascinated him as a youngster.

In the first blank check of more than $1,000,000,000 which he was given to relieve distress and prime the pump—back in 1933—he was given specific authority to use some of it to build up the Navy. And he did use some MUCH TO THE GRATIFICATION OF A MAN WHO HAD CONTRIBUTED HEAVILY TO HIS PRE-CONVENTION AND SUBSEQUENT PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

This gentleman had been a heavy operator in Wall Street, where, according to the New Dealers, all the iniquities of the world arise.

The Republicans had considered him Public Enemy No. 1 or No. 2, because of his bear trading in 1930 and 1931. They tried to get him down to Washington before an investigating committee. He scooted from these parts like nobody's business. He did not make his reappearance until Mr. Roosevelt was elected.

Then it was truly amazing how he moved in to the Roosevelt inner circle. The late Mr. Woodin was Mr. Roosevelt's first secretary of treasury. But in those banking holidays when bankers, whose banks were perfect—trying to learn when they could reopen and under what terms, they had to deal with this gentleman. He was a Big Shot. He was "close to the New Deal."

So we suppose, men being what they are, and patriots being what they are, that when Mr. Roosevelt went to spend some of the blank check on the Navy, this gentleman had bought control of the shipbuilding company where most, if not all, of the money was spent.

A couple of years ago, Mr. Roosevelt, always liking to play with battleships, went down to the annual Winter maneuvers off Guantanamo. At that time, a little feature story was carried in the papers, that the vessel he was aboard, was "captured" by the "enemy" fleet.

That isn't all. Some months after the maneuvers two high ranking officers of the Navy conferred privately with a group of Senators and expressed a willingness to sacrifice their careers in order that what happened off Guantanamo would not happen again. Their story was that Mr. Roosevelt had insisted on taking charge of the maneuvers, with the result that millions of dollars spent for this annual practice were a total loss. Mr. Roosevelt had bawled up the whole works.

You are entitled to know what REALLY goes on in Washington.

"LIFE," said William Shakespeare, "is a stage on which every man must play a part."

Applicable and truthful always, that statement is particularly so today in New England as hundreds of thousands of men and women return with their families from beach and mountain resorts.

Nature, ever the master showman, is ringing down the curtain on Summer and turning the spotlight on Autumn.

And the person who wishes to play his part effectively must first resolve to LOOK the part.

Sun-burned straws, shower-faded cottons and yellowed linens are no longer acceptable clothing.

They are as passe as the forgotten violets of June or the withered daisies of July.

Fall, the season of color, vigor and activity; of red apples, purple grapes and golden harvests, challenges everybody, to GET UP and DRESS UP.

This is why Boston, extending wide her welcoming arms to the thousands who want to feel right and be right, observes BACK HOME TO BUY DAYS.

Sister cannot return to school looking like a last year's memory.

Brother can hardly hope to be popular with boys of his age in a suit that "used to fit."

Mother will find it difficult to continue the "uplift" of vacation time as she goes about her social duties in a gown and hat that dates her to the unfashionable yesterday.

Father, eager to win promotion or new business, ought not to be handicapped by frayed and battered garments which cry "failure."

FORTUNATELY, there is no necessity for anyone's suffering this humiliation.

Boston's stores, unquestionably the nation's best, are amply supplied with everything that Autumn and Success require.

In fact, these stores never had a wider selection of merchandise or more attractive prices.

There are felts and tweeds and furs and woollens.

There are flattering frocks and glamorous gowns.

There are hats, suits and topcoats that really do make the man.

There are rings and watches and accessories for every taste and wardrobe.

And for the home, which is as important as proper clothes in the attainment of popularity and prosperity, there are new furniture, decorations, rugs, linens, curtains and silver.

Costs kept within the limits of the average income and practical budget programs make it possible for everyone to be as proud of his house as his grandfather was of his.

The family circle which the late Arthur Brisbane so frequently mentioned as vitally necessary to the individual's success is no longer a dream.

In New England, Boston stores have made it an easily-obtained reality.

BACK HOME TO BUY DAYS

also concern the thousands of families from other parts of the country that come to the New England Playground for vacations and conventions.

Here, for prices seldom matched elsewhere, visitors may purchase wardrobes which will harmonize with the health our New England climate has given their bodies.

Wise vacationists will not be content to go back to Kansas, Texas or the Far West merely FEELING FIT.

Wise vacationists will spend at least a day in Boston, visiting our world-famous stores, and then return home LOOKING FIT.

Good trains make every New England community a suburb of this metropolis.

Excellent highways stretch from the New York line and the Canadian border to all our doors.

Advertisements in this newspaper enable thousands to make their selections at home and to order by telephone or mail.

To "dress up" one's self and home is no longer a privilege and certainly not a luxury.

Progressive-minded Boston merchants have made "dressing-up" an investment in happiness, contentment and prosperity.

On The Side

TO LIVE ALONE and like it a woman in New York needs an income of $1160.75 annually. So says government statisticians. There are several hundred thousand women trying to live in New York on less than that... Longevity is something few undertakers seem to enjoy. Most of them pass on before the age of 50... Not many famous girls have nicknames even in their youth. Offhand I can only think of "Honey Chile" Wilder, "Tookie" Spreckles, "Babe" Diddrickson and "Ginger" Rogers... How do you pronounce Chicago? A client insists the correct pronunciation is "She-ka-go"... Father Divine of Harlem, who does not care to have his office overcrowded, has a sign up: "The abundance of fullness occupies the entire area of this office. Therefore there can be no loitering."

ARE YOU RAISING your boy to be a lawyer. Did you know in one recent year 10 per cent of the members of the New York Bar Ass'n made applications for relief or that 50 per cent of the same organization earn less than $3000 a year, 42 per cent are below $2500 and one-third take in less than $1000 annually. The reason we have so many lawyers in government jobs is because that is the only way most of them can make a decent living.

SOME CITIZENS say finger-printing puts them in "bad company." Perhaps; but it also puts them in very good company. The

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Aboard the President's Train, Sept. 3.—I did not have space to tell you of a visit last Friday from the director of the Woodstock, New York, NYA, camp. He brought a group of boys interested in making homespun yarn for weaving projects.

We had a picnic lunch and then I took them over to discuss their problems with our weaver of homespun materials, Mrs. Nelly Johanneessen, at the Val-Kill Weaving Shop. They spent some time and I hope they felt the exchange of information was mutually valuable.

On Saturday, the Roosevelt Home Club held its yearly meeting. These meetings have a honey flavor which would be hard to duplicate anywhere else.

ON SUNDAY MORNING we left the house at 9:30 and waved goodbye to our young Norwegian guests, who looked very much the way my children looked like in the old days when we used to drive away and leave them at home—just a bit forlorn.

In Weehawken, New Jersey, the Crown Princess and her lady-in-waiting were met by the Norwegian minister. I hope they will have several pleasant days and enjoy seeing some of their Norwegian friends and that they will be back in the country before I return there.

I was sorry to hear of the airplane accident in which Senator Lundeen and so many people lost their lives. The Pennsylvania Airlines had such a good record for safety, in fact all of the commercial airplanes have been so fortunate in this respect, that one regrets to see an accident such as this occur.

From Bishop Atwood, I received today a copy of a "note" written by a young Englishman, and certain excerpts from it seem to me very significant. He writes:

HOLLYWOOD'S BEAUTIFUL STAR, GINGER ROGERS
She's One of Few Famous Young Women With Nicknames

more than 4,000,000 men who were in the United States Army in 1917-18 were all finger-printed and these prints are on file in Washington, D. C. . . . What was the name of the girl of whom it was said "She shall have music wherever she goes?" I think I saw her on East 58th st., Manhattan, yesterday. She was carrying a portable radio tuned in to the tone limit on somebody singing: "I'm Stepping Out With a Memory Tonight" . . . The inventors of the tank were Sir William Tritton and Major Wilson of England. Had it not been for this invention the Allies probably would have lost the World War. For the invention, Tritton and Wilson were given $75,000 by the British Government. But they didn't get the money until 19 years after the war was over.

WHEN I WAS a boy this time was the saddest of the year to me. Because vacation was about over and the opening of school was just around the corner. I hated school. I don't think there ever lived a boy who advanced toward school with such reluctant feet as I did. The happiest period in my grammar school career was when the school became so crowded half-day sessions were inaugurated. And I had the luck to get in on the morning session. At 12 noon under this arrangement I was through with school for the day.

MY DAY

caused us to stray so far from the purposes of life, in these last decades. I think, however, that we are nearing the point in our evolution when we can so construct the social framework that there will be a constant stimulus and inspiration in life, making war unnecessary. Struggle and effort can be found in many other fields other than that of battle."

SHOW CAUSES GIRL TO LOSE TOOTH

By Ole Olsen
Famous Comedian Pens Column
For Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Coming in from Malverne, Long Island, as usual I was looking over my favorite commuter's shoulder. For the first time my curiosity was aroused by the fact that there is one 'I' in Mussolini, two 'Is' in Churchill, one 'I' in Stalin, one 'I' in Hitler, three 'Is' in Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and five 'Is' in Wendell L. Willkie. In other words, L'espapin everywhere.

I was still thinking of it later when a guy calls up and says, "Will you do a guest column for Leonard Lyons?" And your yesses comes out so fast it sounds like a newscast audience's greeting to Hitler's picture.

Of course I could tell about the fellow who came up to the box office the other day and said, "I'd like two seats in the balcony for Hellzapoppin."

"Balcony all sold out," came the cashier's reply.

"O. K. then two downstairs."

"Sold out downstairs," came the reply of the cashier.

"All sold out but standing room."

"O. K. I'll take two standing room if I can get them together."

MY GIRL FRIDAY just told me that that's not funny and reminded me that I had just received the following letter from George R. Haines of Jenkintown, Pa.

"Dear Olsen and Johnson: Wednesday, August 21, '39. Betty's 20th birthday so I took her over to N. Y. to see the Fair and Hellzapoppin. We had good seats for the play, Row G.

"Betty is an attractive girl and healthy enough looking. I'd say. So imagine my surprise and consternation when after a terrific burst of laughter at your antics she quietly turned to me and said, 'Hank, I've just swallowed a tooth.' Well it seems that she had a false tooth in the back of her mouth, which naturally I knew nothing about. Somehow in all the mirth it became disengaged and during a great laugh was swallowed.

"I didn't know what to do as the play was only about a half hour old and I hated to leave, but after all you don't swallow a $60 false tooth every night of the week. So we stood up and everybody in Row G. thought we were part of the show, especially when I explained our dilemma.

"Over to the hospital we went and they gave Betty some mashed potatoes and told her to go home. We did. "Some evening Betty and I would like to see the rest of the show. It may be that the management will feel kindly towards us and reward us with a couple of 'comps,' otherwise Betty is going to have to wait till she's 21.

"This story is straight from the shoulder. If we can come to see the show again, I'll introduce you to Betty. You'll like her. What we saw was really a howl!

"Anyway, good luck to you, and I hope you will always be able to make people laugh hard enough to swallow their teeth. Sincerely, G. R. H."

ENCLOSED with the letter was a patient's copy from the Roosevelt Hospital, Accident Room for a first aid fee of $2 which had been paid. So I wrote to George:

Dear George—There are two front seats for you with our compliments, and a dinner, without mashed potatoes, and a corsage for Betty any time at your convenience. All you have to do is advise us WHEN. Merrily, "Moler" Olsen and "Bicuspid" Johnson.

And while we're answering mail, my Girl Friday says, "Read this."

"My dear Mr. Olsen and Mr. Johnson: Two weeks ago I took my girl friend to see your fine show. Of course this is nothing new, as many young fellows take their girl friends to see your show. But, what is news, is that she did not laugh once during the entire performance, not even a snicker.

"Now she is not an Indian, and she has a sense of humor, so I think and hope. Perhaps this letter is annoying, but I thought you would like to know the reaction of a member of the audience. Your fan, S. S."

MY DEAR S. S.: Thanks for your frankness and greetings to your girl. If she didn't see anything funny in Hellzapoppin, no doubt she must be a Dodger fan who had just listened to a broadcast of a game the Dodgers lost. Merrily yours, "Icke" Olsen and "Whacky" Johnson.

"WHACKY" JOHNSON

ED WYNN HAS BEEN unlucky in love... Headlines have told part of the story... Only his intimates know the depth of the tragedy the great professional zany has played Paghacci to—for nearly twenty years... It has been a two-part tragedy, and the second part nearly turned the talented funny man into an introvert and a recluse.

BUT A COUPLE OF UNSELFISH clever women have taken Ed in hand, and the patient, thanks be, is responding to treatment... The girls are rivals, professionally... One is gorgeous Jane Pickens, a blonde, and the other is pett Renée De Marco, the Irene Castle of her (this) generation... They are mock rivals in another way—for the affection of Mr. Wynn.

MISS PICKENS IS A SINGER and a "name" singer... Miss De Marco is the bride of Tony De Marco, and together they have pre-empted their field, that of so-called ballroom dancing... The De Marcos are the only dancing team which can demand and get a share of the cover charge, or a percentage of the gross receipts, in a New York nightclub.

TO GIVE YOU AN IDEA of the intensity of the professional rivalry between Mrs. De Marco and Miss Pickens, a battle for weeks went on before the billing of Mr. Wynn's new show, "Boys and Girls Together," finally saw the De Marcos names precede that of Miss Pickens in the billing... An occasional flareup because of the decision still occurs... The pseudo romantic rivalry is something else again.

WHEN THE WYNN SHOW went into rehearsal four weeks ago, it needed something less than the highly-touted quality of womanly intuition to discover that "The Perfect Fool" was not in a fooling mood... Ed was brooding... A couple of business reverses had set him back nearly a million dollars in the past few years, but the notion that he had gotten a wrong deal from the fair sex impressed him more morosely than the loss of a lot of dough... Miss Pickens (who, by the way, has had her own share of tough going in the romance department) began to "pursue" Mr. Wynn.

IT WAS A COMPANIONABLE, SISTERLY sort of pursuit, but it served to take Mr. Wynn out of his mood of introspection... Then the De Marco "siren" made a "triangle" of the little situation... It wasn't more than a week that Mr. Wynn was behaving as blandly and boyishly as before... Twenty pounds underweight, Ed began to pick up... Now, he is laughing and ready to face tomorrow night's audience.

MEANTIME, HIS TWO FEATURED FEMALE stars are giving him very little time alone... He hasn't been able to dine or sup with one charmer, than the other tracks him, or them down... Sometimes, the situation overlaps from a determined "romantic" rivalry, into the field of business... For instance, a cameraman had arranged a two some photograph of Miss Pickens and Mr. Wynn...

YOU WON'T SEE THAT picture in the paper... It became a threesome a few seconds after Renée discovered that Miss Pickens and Mr. Wynn had ad-journeyed to another room with the cameraman... It is never safe to predict that any theatrical troupe will end its run as they begin... as "one big happy family"... Somehow, the spirit around the Wynn show tempts one who should know better to predict that "Boys and Girls Together" is a truthful description of the organization.

CONNIE BOSWELL STOLE HER WAY into the hearts of a large crowd of Ritz Roof firstnighters... The tiny singer's interpretation of "I'll Never Smile Again" lifts that torch-song into a classification no pop tune really rates... It takes on the dignity of an ageless piece of folksong, the way Connie does it.

PAULETTE GODDARD OFFERED LEAD

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 3.—When Paulette Goddard was out at Marlene Dietrich's apartment a few days ago a telephone call came to her from Joseph Pasternak. He is eager to get Paulette to play the lead in "Serenade to a Wealthy Widow." She'd like to do it, but not hot or cold, as soon as she finishes "Second Chorus" and Charles Chaplin's picture, "The Great Dictator," is on its way, they are going to the Orient. Paulette prefers with the idea of going to the Orient. Paulette prefers a couple of months in New York attending the theaters but she won't insist for she's eager to have Charlie get the rest he needs after so many months' intensive work on his picture.

MARY BETH HUGHES

Joe tells her he doesn't intend to film "Serenade to a Wealthy Widow" for some time and when he does he hopes to have Paulette and Robert Cummings in the leads. Paulette is eager to work for Pasternak since she admires him immensely but she wants to take a vacation with Charlie first.

VERY WISE of Bernard Zuckerman not to put Mary Beth Hughes in gaga parts but to tangle her up as a sophisticated blonde who knows her way around. That's what he's doing and you'll see her next in "Brooklyn Rhapsody," in which she plays the girl friend of a high-up politician. Alice Faye has the top female role and Tyrone Power, Don Ameche, Henry Fonda and Edward Arnold—all top 20th Century-Fox players—have important roles so it looks like a bigger, Arthur Cresser has written the story and Philip Dunne is preparing the script. Undoubtedly Mary Beth's work as the wife of John Barrymore in "The Great Profile" is responsible for all the renewed interest in the girl, who a year ago was unknown.

MARLENE DIETRICH'S friends have all been worried about her. She has taken off far too much weight and she looks almost dead. Perhaps that's the way she should look in "Seven Sinners," but we hope she'll put on a little more poundage for "The Duchess of New Orleans," which will go into production in November. If Tay Garnett finishes "Cheers for Miss Bishop" in time he will accept Joseph Pasternak's offer to direct Marlene and he should be an excellent selection for her, a very good woman's director. Broderick Crawford, the husky lad who seems to be doing himself and Universal well as a character actor, will have an important role in Marlene's picture, "The Duchess of New Orleans."

Morris is taking her baby to New York Sept. 5, which probably means there will be no reconciliation with Wayne Morris. Too bad, as Judge Lindsay worked so hard to bring them together; Lana Turner and Victor Mature, in slacks exactly alike, were something for the visiting tourists to see; the cutest pair in town—Fredie Bartholomew and Jane Withers, dancing at the El Cortez after their personal appearance at the State Theater in San Diego.

BARBARA WOODALL who is talking a movie job, was once wed to Arthur Low and before that to Oscar Levant. She played the daughter in the New York company of "The Man Who Came to Dinner." The Frank Bonage case has been postponed at the request of Mrs. B.'s attorney; that was Abe Meyers (last January's) dancing with Carol Parker at the La Corga and Paul Feiman with Isobel Jewell.

MARIA OUSPENSKAYA and Kirsten Flagstad are interesting luncheon duets at the Brown Derby. Ivan Jaggars, whose performance in "Bagdad, 1924" is the talk of the town, has bought a house in Beverly Hills. Mrs. J. was formerly a Boston socialite, the Wynn Dietrichs are hosting a party at their home, East 57th street, next day night.

28 British Chase Huge Air Army to France

the day were reported at 51 planes, 29 shot down in battle and 13 destroyed on the ground, with only 12 German planes reported missing.—Editor's Note.)

The first air alarm sounded at Buckingham palace was filling with British fighting men, invited to receive military decorations from King George VI. The King, ordering that there be no interruption of the investiture ceremony, awarded 339 decorations, including three Victoria Crosses Britain's most prized military honor.

(Nazl night raiders, the German high command said, aimed their bombs particularly at British south and west coast ports and at Midlands armament plants and airports, naming Liverpool, Swansea, Bristol, Plymouth, Portland, Poole, Portsmouth, Birmingham, Coventry and Filton as objectives last night.—Editor's Note.)

NORSE DOWN PLANE

Meanwhile the admiralty announced a Norwegian torpedo boat co-operating with British naval forces had shot down a German five bomber which attacked the torpedo boat and a nearby merchant ship.

In the earlier repulse of the German mass attack on the southeast coast, fighting lasted more than a hour before the Germans scattered and headed back over the channel. The drone of many engines, bursts of machine-gun fire and the sight of falling planes told the story to watchers on the ground.

In one coastal district six air-men were seen drifting down by parachute several miles from the scene of the main battle, apparently having jumped from disabled planes.

The attacks provided a bloody opening for Britain's second year of war.

Shortly after the London area had its 37th raid alarm of the war, the invaders, a large force of bombers accompanied by scores of fighters, came roaring over the coast.

There were hundreds of the raiding planes. They were heading toward the London area.

Many German planes were believed to have been sent crashing to earth.

BRITISH IN PURSUIT

The roar of exploding bombs came like thunder as the battle shaped into one of the war.

The Germans apparently were thoroughly beaten as, after the hour's fighting, they jettisoned

SHELL, NOT BOMB—It was a big shell fired from German guns on French coast that damaged this church in Dover area, not a bomb dropped from the air.

their bombs and turned homeward with British fighters in pursuit.

When the British fighters returned to their bases, some of them did their "victory roll."

The southeast coast battle, the biggest that vicinity had experienced, developed when a large force of German bombers accompanied by scores of Messerschmitts, encountered a strong flight of British fighter planes.

The British attacked the German formations just as they reached an inland town.

While civilians scampered for shelters, the British fighters scattered the German bombing formation and engaged the Messerschmitts. One British fighter eluded a German plane by diving from 20,000 feet—almost four miles—to just above the town's railroad station.

King George held court ceremony at Buckingham palace while the forenoon air raid warning was in effect over London area.

Casualties were "remarkably small" and damage "slight" in night bombings of the outskirts of London and a number of areas elsewhere in England, the government announced.

Britain Claims Heavy Damage in Reich Raids

LONDON, Sept. 3 (INS)—Heavy damage on munitions plants and major industrial centers in Germany was reported today following a series of devastating Royal Air Force raids on the Reich and occupied territory.

Vast squadrons of R.A.F. bombers attacked various strategic points in Germany, Holland, France and Italy. In addition to various points in the Ruhr and northern Germany, the bombers attacked important factories at Munich, where the huge Bayerische Motorenwerke was singled out for a raid.

Emden, Stuttgart, Mannheim and Ludwigshafen also were attacked, while in Italy the R.A.F. planes went for railway sidings at Linotto and Turin as well as the previously damaged Fiat factory at Turin.

Returning British pilots reported setting some "pretty fires" in all the raids.

Al Smith Refuses To Run for Senate

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (INS)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith, who intends to campaign for Wendell L. Willkie this fall, has vetoed suggestions that he run for the U. S. Senate against James M. Mead, the Democratic incumbent, who will be a candidate for reelection, it was learned today.

Smith has made it clear to his friends, it was learned, that he will neither seek nor accept the nomination if it is given to him.

4 BIG FIRES SET, NAZI FLIERS SAY

BERLIN, Sept. 3 (AP) — New waves of German raiders rained assault against southern England this afternoon, informed sources said, after hours of battling this morning in which 54 British planes were reported destroyed.

Again the raiders charged into defending British planes.

At least 15 of the British planes destroyed this morning were on the ground, Germans said, while 12 German planes failed to return.

Clouds of smoke and flame were reported shooting more than a mile high over four of England's naval bases and harbors by German air-men who returned from night attacks.

Smoke was shooting 650 feet into the air over Bristol, southeast England port, the fliers said. They mentioned Swansea and Cardiff, both in Wales, and the great south England naval base of Portsmouth as places where other big fires had been started by their bombs.

In addition, the high command said, four other of Britain's most important harbors and naval bases—Liverpool, Plymouth, Portland and Poole—were heavily attacked with the aim of destroying warehouses and piers.

The German communique mentioned only one farm as damaged from English raids, but said bombs were dropped at several places. Informed sources said three British planes were shot down in the raids.

The Nazi press, reviewing the achievement of the past 12 months, found the situation thoroughly satisfactory from the German point of view.

Newspapers said that despite the best efforts of the British naval blockade they found no cause to grumble over the food situation in Germany.

AIR BLITZ FAILS, SURVEY OF ENGLAND SHOWS

suffered most, is today most eager to strike back at the author of all his woes.

PREDICTION OF FUTURE

The most impressive sight of the tour was Ramsgate, a seaside resort innocent of any military objective, but victim of the war's worst assault by air. It offers proof that air war can and may wipe out all our material civilization above ground but need not result in much loss of life.

It supports the belief that before this war is over tens of millions of inhabitants of this part of the world may be living permanently underground, probably at an extremely low standard of living, but still carrying on.

Ramsgate's chief constable, S. F. Butler, took us around the city, which looked badly enough damaged, but revealed the depth of its wounds only under expert guidance.

122 HOUSES HIT

The horrifying swiftness of air assault was never better demonstrated. In four and one-half minutes, 50 German bombers dropped 500 one-hundred-and-ten-pound bombs indiscriminately upon the seaside district of Ramsgate.

They destroyed entirely or partially 1222 houses, nearly all homes of workers.

This is the largest number of houses ever destroyed in any single air raid anywhere in history, although greater monetary damage was done by Germans in Rotterdam's business center and Warsaw suffered more in a series of raids.

If a reader wishes to get an idea of what the destruction of 1222 houses means, let him look around his neighborhood and count that many homes. He'll find it includes everything in sight in all directions.

ONLY 28 KILLED

One of the most important lessons in the bombing of Ramsgate lay in the fact that despite the terrific destruction not more than 28 persons were killed and 45 injured and this was because Ramsgate possesses what are probably the best air raid shelters in the world.

begun before the war by the city's borough engineer, R. D. Brimmell, Ramsgate's deep shelters provide an example worthy even of emulation in America.

They consist of a tunnel three-quarters of a mile long and shaped in a semi-circle with entrances so situated that every inhabitant is within five minutes walking distance of the shelter.

The tunnels are 60 feet underground and proof against the largest bombs in existence.

RAMSGATE'S EXODUS

For 100 per cent protection, only deep shelters, such as Ramsgate's, are effective and this lesson even

American cities in the era of warfare should take to heart.

Out of Ramsgate's normal 36,000 population, only 15,000 remain. The others have voluntarily gone away.

Why Hitler should have wasted high explosive bombs upon persons whose sole activity was taking in summer boudoirs is still a mystery. Dover was astonishing. After everything that had been written about Dover in the last month, one could expect to find just a heap of ruins as the Germans claimed it to be—but the fact of the matter is that Dover is almost completely normal.

In total dead during the entire raid number six and the total material losses to a dozen houses, bombed and shelled is under $50,000.

CARRY ON AT FOLKSTONE

Dover's nearest neighbor, Folkstone, suffered only slightly more. Six Folkstone citizens were killed and 150 houses destroyed and damaged but 14,000 of its 47,000 people are carrying on.

Interesting to note is the remark of a Folkstone police inspector who declared:

"Germans know as much about Folkstone and all this coast as we do. They used to send warnings of students vacationing here before the war. They know every nook and cranny."

Motoring on down the coast, we passed the tiny hamlet of Lymchurch where one bomb killed an 85-year-old man, his 62-year-old wife, and one 14-year-old boy.

Winchelsea, seat of the Norman Church 1000 years ago, was untouched.

Hastings, scene of the battle of "1066" and all of that, has had a bare half dozen bombings in this war, but just outside Hastings we ran under the greatest air battle your correspondent ever witnessed.

SCATTER THE NAZIS

More than 100 German bombers, escorted by fighters in formations like Canadian geese, flew like silver leaves floating 20,000 feet above us, their wings gleaming against a cobalt blue sky.

Suddenly 30 Hurricanes and Spitfires dived from the clouds and struck the Germans at right angles in mid formation. It was like savage dogs ripping into a sheep fold. The Germans broke formation and scattered and now they fought all over the sky.

Far as the eye could see, groups of German and British planes dived, wheeled, looped, stalled, and sideslipped—all the while they spat continuously, uninterruptedly, over crowded with women and children.

The fiery crackle of British eight-gunned fighters tumbled the heavens. Now and then the roar of a machine diving made us cry "is he falling?" Then a tell-tale wisp, first white and then dark smoke, showed that the plane was falling. It began to turn red at the nose, then flamed. Its pilot never batted an eye.

For over 50 miles along the coast we motored beneath this epic battle. At Felixstowe, business was almost as in peacetime with no dead and no bombing.

BRIGHTON SEAR NOVEL

Famous Brighton, favorite sea coast resort of Victorian times, is the most normal of all. Its total loss is four killed, 12 wounded, 12 houses damaged in six air raids in which 40 bombs were dropped.

Of all cities along this coast, Portsmouth suffered the largest loss of life, having around 100 deaths from a single raid. Here again the Germans unloaded their bombs without aiming and had devilish luck in making direct hit upon a movie theater and upon an all-protected surface around shelter.

Yet the Portsmouth harbor, which was the principal objective of the German raids, hasn't been impounded the least nor has any of its facilities been knocked out. Nowhere on the whole tour could I find any important damage to any important ports. Ninety-eight per cent of all fire damage has been done to houses, civilians and their property.

Thus the Germans have failed to hit their main target.

SUICIDE LEAP FOILED

Two Priests Help Save Youth

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (INS)—Dependent on the death of his sweetheart who leaped from a fourth story window ledge to escape a burning building, Stanley Logan, 22, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., poised for a suicide leap from the same spot today, shouting:

"I want to be with her! Go away before I jump!"

Neighbors and two priests, one Fr. Francis X. Quinn, winner of a medal for saving an elderly couple from a holdup man, succeeded in preventing the leap.

Last Thursday a girl identified as Veronica Honick, 15, of Manhattan, whom Logan had introduced as his wife and who as asserted was an expectant mother, had leaped to death from the same window to escape flames which swept the West Side rooming house where she lived.

PLEAS BY PRIESTS

Logan was first believed to be private in Co. F, 18th Regiment, at Fort Hamilton in Brooklyn, but regimental headquarters said it had no soldier of that name.

He had a rosary and a prayer book in his hand as he poised at the window of the now empty rooming house.

Father Quinn and Father Emanuel Gonzales, from adjoining windows, pleaded with the youth to give up his plan while a fire rescue squad prepared for a desperate attempt at rescue on the roof. "Come with me to the rectory, Stanley," Father Gonzales pleaded.

"No," Stanley yelled. "You want to put me in a padded cell. You think I'm crazy." Pointing to the rosary and the prayer book, he told the priests: "Don't let these fool you. I haven't been to church in five years."

HANGING ALSO FAILS

Meanwhile, Fireman Charles Sadara on the roof attached himself to a stout rope measured to exactly reach the window. He flung himself off the roof and swung, feet first, directly at the window. His feet struck Logan a terrific blow, knocking him in the window.

Logan, dazed, stumbled to his feet, and noticed a wire dangling from the ceiling. He twisted it about his neck in an attempt to hang himself but was grabbed by a half-dozen police who pinioned his arms behind his back and tied his hands.

Neighbors told the priests the youth's mind had broken since the tragedy Thursday.

Fireman Sadara escaped unharmed although, had he varied his direction a foot either way, he would have smashed into the wall.

FIREMEN BEE-DEVEILED

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., Sept. 3.—Firemen who answered an alarm at J. E. Wood's barn were sorry they found the owner smoking out a swarm of bees—all in an angry mood.

Hub Plane Skids, 17 Escape Injury

Fourteen passengers and three crew members narrowly escaped injury today when a Boston to New York American Airlines plane skidded off the runway at Hartford, Conn., and nosed into marshy ground by the Connecticut river dike.

Airlines officials, reporting the damage to the plane as "light," said that the passengers and crew were transferred to another plane and continued their flight to New York.

The accident was attributed to wet grass on the field which sent the plane into a skid when the pilot applied the brakes upon landing.

DO THE DEAD RETURN?

A strange man in Los Angeles, known as "The Voice of Two Worlds," tells of astonishing experiences in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. Here he lived among the lamas, mystic priests of the temple. "In your previous lifetime," a very old lama told him, "you lived here, a lama in this temple. You and I were boys together. I lived on, but you died in youth, and were reborn in England. I have been expecting your return."

The young Englishman was amazed as he looked around the temple where he was believed to have lived and died. It seemed uncannily familiar, he appeared to know every nook and corner of it, yet—at least in this lifetime—he had never been there before. And mysterious was the set of circumstances that had brought him. Could it be a case of reincarnation that strange belief of the East that souls return to earth again and again, living many lifetimes?

Because of their belief that he had formerly been a lama in the temple, the lamas welcomed the young man with open arms and taught him rare mysteries and hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the lamas, which have enabled many to perform amazing feats. He says that the system often leads to almost unbelievable improvement in power of mind, can be used to achieve brilliant business and profeSSIONAL success as well as great happiness. The young man himself later became a noted explorer and geographer, a successful publisher of maps and atlases of the Far East, used throughout the world.

"There is in all men a sleeping giant of mind-power," he says. "When awakened, it can make man capable of surprising feats, from the prolonging of youth to success in many other worthy endeavors." The system is said by many to promote improvement in health; others tell of increased bodily strength, courage and poise.

"The time has come for this long-hidden system to be disclosed to the Western world," declares the author, and offers to send his amazing 8000-word treatise—which reveals many startling results—to sincere readers of this paper, free of cost or obligation. For your free copy, address the Institute of Mental Physics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. 102M, Los Angeles, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free treatises have been printed.

tion with brighter tones promise to be popular as well as the new "Benedictine," a lighter, warm, tawny, tan shade.

Novelties in costume jewelry will prove intriguing, with wool and leather competing with the more conservative gold and silver.

Those who are about to furnish new homes, or refurbish old, will find ensembles to please every taste and every purse. Authentic styles and artistic color features these ensembles.

MILITARY INFLUENCE

Starched white collars are coming back this fall, probably a reflection of military dress on current style. The starched collars can be worn either with white shirts or with the pastel shades.

The junior misses and the younger young men, those between six and 13, will have almost as wide a variety to make selection from as their elders.

Once upon a time a boy looked forward to that day when he would wear his first long trousers. Today, "longies" are in style for young men who have matured enough to enter the first year of grammar school.

A careful reading of the Back Home To Buy section will reveal fashion in variety and prices well within the fold of every purse.

F. D. Degree Hit By Guggenheim

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—A protest against what he called the "special prominence" to be accorded President Roosevelt at the University of Pennsylvania's bicentennial celebration on Sept. 21 was made public today by William Guggenheim, retired capitalist.

Guggenheim, former manager of the Guggenheim mining and smelting interests in Mexico, sent a telegram to Dr. Thomas S. Gates, president of the university, saying he was "greatly shocked" and expressing a belief that "the vast majority of our 40,000 or more alumni who are Willkie-for-President men will be equally so."

Guggenheim said the protest was made because President Roosevelt is to be given an honorary degree of doctor of laws and to speak at the ceremonies.

Hospital Institute Opens at Harvard

More than 100 delegates from hospitals from all sections of the United States and Canada today attended the opening of the first New England Institute for Hospital Administrators at Harvard Medical School. The institute, which will continue through September 11, is sponsored by the American College of Hospital Administrators.

Wife Identifies Man Found Dying in Street

Unconscious and with a severe gash in the back of his head, a man was found lying on the sidewalk in Whittier at Roxbury police. His name is on the danger list at City Hospital.

Because of his condition, officers were unable to question the man, identified by his wife as Edward Kleinberg, 60, of Ward st., Roxbury.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

HURRICANE WARNINGS and a heavy down-pour on the North Shore caused last minute postponement of the annual Labor Day Horse Show at the Myopia Hunt Club . . . leaving all the shore's riding enthusiasts—Ayers, Tuckermans, Cochranes, Warrens, Pingrees, McKeanes etc., facing a long idle holiday . . .

They were not idle for long, however, for those who were up at the peep of dawn to groom their steeds for the early classes in the show, had a long canter over the countryside in spite of the rain . . . and ingenious hostesses lost no time in thinking up gay impromptu parties to provide a jolly holiday for their families and friends . . .

The show was postponed to Saturday, Sept. 14 . . .

It couldn't be held next Saturday for that's the date of Ann Ayer's wedding to Ted Mac-Nichol and most of the shore's horsemen and women will either be wedding guests or members of the bridal party . . . Since Anne, more intimately known as "Squi," and Ted, her future hubby, are going to make their home in Princeton, N. J., for a year, they are the center of a whirl of partying during the last few days before their marriage and leave taking . . .

Feted at Many Parties

SUNDAY THEY WERE FETED at a cocktail party and clam bake given at the George C. Clements' cottage on Wingersneck Beach . . . Dottie Preston gave a shower for Anne and the Dick Prestons are giving a party for the bridal couple this week . . .

On the eve of the wedding all concerned will gather for a dinner dance given by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Mac-Nichol of Weymouth . . . while a few hours before the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Neil W. Rice and their daughter, Emily (one of the bridesmaids), will be hosts at a large luncheon for bridesmaids, ushers and many of the wedding guests . . .

Sunday, the day after the wedding, will be enlivened by a large luncheon to be given at the Ipswich estate of James Howe Proctor and his daughter, Esther . . . Others feting the popular young couple are the Richard Pentecosts who are soon moving to Baltimore, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Wadsworth, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Burnett and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Merrill . . .

THE WHIRL of debutante parties which will crowd the younger set's autumn calendar requires a wardrobe full of alluring evening gowns such as this one modelled by debutante Jean Hendrie of Cohasset in a recent fashion show. The gown is fashioned of gold taffeta with large gold velvet roses adorning the skirt and shoulder. Jean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hendrie.

BERMUDA'S GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Drury of Boston are occupying Harbor View in Paget, Bermuda, where they are vacationing for a few weeks.

Engaged

Mary Howell To Wed

A September wedding is being planned by Mary "Polly" Howell and Albert Harkness, whose engagement was one of the important holiday announcements.

Polly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Howell of Baltimore, has made her home for several years with her grandaunt, Mrs. Edward W. Hutchins of Beacon st., and will be married at Mrs. Hutchins' summer home in Castine, Me.

The future bride attended the Greenwood School in Baltimore and the Childs Walker School in Boston where she was prominent in the dramatic department. She made her debut here in 1938 and is a member of the Junior League.

Mr. Harkness, son of Albert Harkness and the late Mrs. Harkness of Providence, graduated from Harvard in 1938 and is a member of Hasty Pudding-Institute of 1770 and the Phoenix Clubs.

Nancy Newell Engaged

From Cape Cod comes announcement of the engagement of post job Nancy Newell, daughter of Mrs. L. Gould Newell of Brookline and Wianno, who is to become the bride of Phelps Holloway, son of Mrs. Clarence H. Holloway of Arlington st.

The future bride is the daughter of David B. Newell of Boston. She graduated from Winsor School and is a member of the Junior League and Vincent Club. Mr. Holloway attended Phillips Academy, Andover, and graduated from Governor Dummer Academy.

No date that been set for the wedding.

MILTON ENGAGEMENT

Joining the ranks of attractive future brides is Jean Richmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton R. Richmond of Milton, who is engaged to Henry S. Stone of New York.

Miss Richmond, a graduate of Westover School, was presented to society in the winter of 1936-37 and belongs to the Junior League and Vincent Club. She is a sister of Mrs. Robert W. Ladd (Helen Richmond) of Dover, Carleton Jr., and Joshua Richmond.

Mr. Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Stone of Beacon st. and Oyster Harbors, graduated from Harvard in 1938 and belongs to the D. U. Club.

Summer dresses for day and evening . . . wearable for remaining weeks of warm weather—and later for the South.

Intermediate Markdowns have been taken.

A PROPOS of the impending occasion but without the slightest touch of conceit, Jane hummed "You gotta be a football hero to get along with a beautiful girl—"; which proved that a pretty girl could remember something longer than two minutes and that radio did not necessarily kill a song in a couple of weeks.

She executed a little shuffle as she slid a woolen sweater over her honey-hair, drawing it down over her shoulders.

In a few minutes Jack would be here. He would punch the bell downstairs and Jane would punch the button over there that would release the street door. Then he would come in out of the chair and his strong legs would carry his muscular body up the one flight to her apartment.

After that, they would go back downstairs and he would drive her to the game where she would sit in an enclosure near the press box on the 50-yard line and watch him at quarter, give Tech a good licking.

An instantaneous rattling at the window interrupted her reverie and she saw rain falling in sudden torrents. The field would be covered with its rubber blanket, of course, but the inconsiderate weather had no effects, now, whatever on her spirits.

She'd known Jack Freeman only a short while, and already Tommy Ahern was beginning to act like an abandoned child.

Once she thought she loved Tommy—and perhaps she still did, in a way—but since she had met Jack, the light that once had been Tommy's placid dependability had faded to an infinitesimal sputter under the glare of Jack's romantic glamour.

Tommy's only fault was his perfectly prosaic dependability. And a young girl wanted—needed—moonlight and roses and soft phrases. Jack could be depended upon for those, if nothing else. Tommy, on the other hand, believed in taking not a single step until he had weighed each consequence and made certain he had left at least one unburned bridge behind him.

The bell rang, and Jane caught her breath.

Quickly she pressed the button that released the electric call downstairs, and in a moment she heard feet climbing slowly, rhythmically. She pictured Jack in his neat coonskin coat.

TOMMY INTRODUCES

And then the buzzer back in her kitchenette whirled. She waited a moment to make it appear her tiny feet were walking across the rich brown carpet; then she flung the door open.

It was Tommy Ahern. Chagrined washed the snook of surprise from her face. And finally she could only stand and stare at the man encased so gracefully in a too-small slicker which flared at his knees like a ray-ninety bathing skirt underneath which were two water-logged shoes, each collared by bedraggled, popping trouser legs.

He looked like a gargoyle, standing there and dripping like an umbrella suspended in a corner.

PETERMAN'S DISCOVERY

The Cast of Characters in "Big Game"

JANE, who thought she was in love with TOMMY, but the latter became runner-up when he introduced JACK, his fraternity brother and gridiron star.

Big Game

By Walter Anderson

"Where . . ." she began, and almost laughed as the humor of the situation struck her.

"I came from Alabama with some water on my knee," he chanted. The voice rumbled deep in his big chest, his head held that way to prevent water running from a caked hat down his neck. "You've got on my slicker," Jane cried.

"Sure," he said. "Guess I'm shipping. Couldn't find mine. Guess you left yours in the car the other day. I knew you might want it for the game so here it is. My car got flooded nine blocks down the street. No taxi. So I just put on your slicker and ran like the devil."

There he was—lovable, considerate Tommy. For a moment she thought that if he only had a flair for that unaccountability of Jack's that kept a girl so interested, she could—but Tommy hadn't and he wasn't Jack so there was no use thinking. She just stood there, gaping.

"Aren't you going to rescue me?" Tommy demanded. "I'm practically drowning on your very doorstep." She stepped back and he waddled in, dripping water off the tail of the slicker as a duck after a dip in a pond.

"Help me out of this thing," he pleaded. "I know I made this bed but darned if I can be in it." Gingerly, Jane helped ease the slicker off his broad shoulders. He shook himself. He lifted one shoe cautiously, then the other.

STRANGE BEHAVIOR

"Listen! My toes have gone to sea. Hear the waves in there?" Jane took the slicker to the bathroom and hung it over the tub. When she returned, Tommy was removing his shoes.

"Sorry, Jane. I'd die of pneumonia if I left 'em on," he said. And he drew a pair of heavy woolen socks from a coat pocket, exhibiting them proudly. "Always carry a pair in the car for emergency."

At length, after he had rolled up his trousers a bit so the wet cuffs wouldn't slobber about his ankles, he relaxed.

"I'll call a cab in a little bit, if you don't mind my dying out until Jack arrives," he said.

"Not at all," Jane returned. "Any point in a storm, you know." She realized, instantly, that her remark was nasty, especially since Tommy's condition was a direct result of having done her a service.

But he seemed not to notice the implication; and so, for some reason, Jane felt a little better.

Queer, she thought, why he should forget his own slicker. Strange, too, why he should ask to stay until Jack arrived. It wasn't like Tommy to do anything that might cause a situation. He and Jack were fraternity brothers. He had introduced Jack to Jane. Then, when he saw her leaning toward the football man, he had nicely one trying to entice laggards to hurry to the game. "It's the big game of the year and everybody will be watching Jack Freeman's generalship . . ."

Something began churning inside Jane, filling her ears with a strange little roaring and drowning out the words of the announcer. She wondered if Jack's car, too, had stalled in the sudden downpour; and she reflected, involuntarily, that although Tommy's had, he'd managed to arrive—and with her slicker which he knew she might wear to the game with someone else.

That, she figured, was loyalty, anyway. But like a dog that licks its master's hand after a chastisement for something it didn't do.

"Bet the game'll be great," Tommy said. "Maybe I'll just listen to it on the radio." He watched a faint wisp of steam rise from the bottom of his trousers near the radiator.

He sneezed, and it reminded plain water instead of soda. Then she took the drink back into the living room.

JANE HEARS!

Tommy took it and sank down into the sofa. "This is swell, Jane."

She sat on the edge of her chair, hands folded tightly in her lap, wondering why Jack hadn't come; wondering if Tommy knew something he wouldn't tell her.

The sudden ringing of the telephone relieved her nervousness. She jumped, then realized she shouldn't show anticipation.

Casually, she walked to the little stand on the other side of the room. She glanced toward Tommy, saw the fur of his well-shaped head resting on the back of the comfortable sofa, and felt an unusual tugging at her heart.

He was content. He made no foolish demands. He missed nothing impossible, expected nothing impossible; never had to try.

She held her breath, lifting the instrument from its cradle.

"Jane?" It was Jack. Perhaps he'd had luck down town. He'd be late for the game, but he should have been there long ago.

"Yes?" She said it to the mouthpiece.

"Coach called us in early," Jack's muffled voice said. "I couldn't call you sooner. I'll send a taxi for you. I'm calling from the field house and have to hurry."

Slowly, silently, Jane replaced the phone. Slowly, she walked across the room and around one end of the sofa in which Tommy, in contented complacency, had fallen into a doze. She had thought the loved Jack's unpredictableness—until it had struck home. But perhaps he couldn't help being detained, after all. She picked up a pair of pajamas.

The announcer was almost tearing his hair. "You should see the cheering sections mounting over the field folks. And listen to the bands. Listen, both of 'em together: 'You've gotta be a football hero . . .'"

She halted.

The radio was blaring: " . . . in a little while the teams will be out there, folks. We'll make it all a little longer because there at the other end of the press box is Jack Freeman, State's mainstay. And with him is Eleanor Devereaux who was elected queen of State's campus today. Jack is telephoning . . . He's finished, now. Wait a minute and we'll try to get him to say a word."

Jane turned and flung her pajamas into a corner.

Tommy opened his eyes, blinking sleepily. "Guess I dozed off," he said.

Jane sat down beside him and put a hand in his. "Find another station, Tommy," she said softly. "See if you can find an orchestra that's playing 'Swing in the Rain.'" gone about he could but methodical way, avoiding embarrassing Jane by refusing to have a showdown.

"Jack should be here shortly," she said, hoping to break the momentary silence.

"Sure," he replied. He hesitated for a couple seconds, then: "I saw him just before I left. Guess he stopped a minute on the way."

The rain, having done its temporary damage, subsided to an inconsequential drizzle.

Tommy inched his way along the sofa toward a warm radiator, then leaned over and snipped the radio.

"Might as well see how the crowd's coming along," he said. "Don't think I'll go to the game."

He looked at his watch. "Huh. An hour yet." He twined the dial and wrinkled his nose as sounds like a cat fight came from the loud speaker, and then the squeals of a pig or so caught under the proverbial fence.

" . . . the bowl is filling fast and the rain has stopped," said some-

Jane that she at least could return Tommy's favor.

"I'll get you a drink," she said. "You certainly need one."

"Fine," he purred. "Suppose I do."

The radio screamed in the heavy atmosphere . . . "They're rolling up the rubber blanket, folks. The crowd is all on edge for the evening whistle. It's going to be a great game. That's State cheering, folks. Oh, what a crowd; and what a battle this is going to be. The bands are playing. Listen . . ."

In the kitchen, Jane heard one of the bands take charge of the microphone. She pointed out the drink, remembering that Tommy liked

Wanted: Football Author Who Tells the No. 1 Secret

A NEWS-NOTE FROM THE WEST states that Dr. Eddie Anderson, ex-Holy Cross and now of Iowa, has completed a football manuscript which will appear in book form late this month. Et tu, Doc?

AUSTEN LAKE

For in all my studies of the books and articles wherein successful coaches reminisce, advise and moralize on how to win victories, including the late works by Columbia's Lou Little, Minnesota's Bernie Bierman and the U. of Pacific's Alonzo Stagg, I have searched in vain for some confession of how the successful coach enlists his varsity recruits and by what means of persuasion he induces a beefy kid to take his shilling in preference to rival opponents.

Once I thought for a moment that Stagg had launched into a freak exposure in an early paragraph, which reported that someone asked Pop Warner, "the grand old patriarch," who was fired by Stanford and Temple, what makes a coach great and Pop replied, "Great material." But then Alonzo wagged his editorial hips and slid off a typographical tackle into the clear with a discussion of how he shields his punters and what happens if you don't box a tackle.

Then there is Bierman, whose Minnesota teams have ranked 1, 2, 3 in the country since Knute Rockne met his fate in an airplane crash and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce began to skip its support of Southern California. But then there are dozens of other football teachers around the land who are, and will be again, taking their lickings regularly, and hearing the embittered howls of their alumni and bouncing from one job to another. They would be great coaches, too, if given the pick of the schoolboy heroes from a region as big as New England, with no nearby competitor. Bernie, at his worst, has the choice of more good football players than any other coach in the country. And yet, if memory serves, he took a licking last autumn from several such corned nonentities as Nebraska.

Then There Is Gilmore Dobie

AS DR. ANDERSON, ONE OF MY FAVORITE personalities, realizes, the time to write a football book is when you are UP. Because in the football business you may come DOWN any autumn. Howard Jones sold a carload of books some years ago when Sou-Cal was burning up the West and the newspapers were printing his slightest remarks with ornamental borders. Howard was hot stuff then! But he didn't write any books when he was coaching at Yale or Iowa and getting his weekly bustings, because the community boosters took no pride in flushing up herds of schoolboy bulls. So he moved from New Haven to Iowa City to Los Angeles, where his next jump seemed destined into the Pacific ocean until his Sou-Cal teams began mangling the opposition and very soon the Jones brand of magic was being hailed as the best there was and his writings were being studied by contemporary coaches for some suggestion of how to do likewise. But, when adversity set in, Howard's literary market slipped away, although technically he is the same man with the same magic. But nobody studies his screeds any more. He doesn't write any.

Also Gilmore Dobie, the sad sage of Chestnut Hill, who was one of football's original pioneers and inventor of several systems. Gil is retired now to a suburban limbo where he dabbles with his dahlias and thinks wistful thoughts of the long ago. He was a wizard in the West, a magician at Navy and for a while at Cornell. But at R. C. he was just a bust, big soul-chattering. For there Gil couldn't make average kids do what athletes of his preferred size and agility had previously done with ease.

I might also add that Harvard's Richard Harlow has had his share of trouncings since coming to Cambridge, although acknowledged one of the super-masters of jangle dazzle. His stuff at Harvard is the same stuff he used at Colgate and Western Maryland, but it doesn't work as well. And why do you suppose that is so?

Book of the Year

WHAT I MEAN TO SAY IN A FEW THOUSAND words is that no football book has ever offered a substitute for spindle shanks, an athletic chest, a cigarette cough or an anemic varley squad. Nor has the wisdom of the game's greatest authorities ever found homeopathic cure for brittle bones and lack of wind and leg power. For a straight line is still the shortest distance between two points and the strongest back and stoutest limbs will always be first to get there. Anderson knows that! So does every other coach.

I would ask the great coaches of the game to testify, that they turn out star scholars who are smart in the brains and go into the coaching profession themselves. But when they try to impart the stuff in accordance with their teachings, learned from old No. 1 himself, their teams somehow cannot learn it off. The answer is that in most cases they lack the same opportunities to lure male kangaroos and human orangutans from the neighboring jungles. So with the same plays, methods and AB-ahs, their lads, being lighter of stature and slower of foot, get tossed for lost yardage. If you doubt it, watch Clark Shaughnessy at

SIX BLOW FLAG CHANCE

Bees Win New Boosters by Fine Play

By BILL GRIMES

With the startling Bees on their way to New York and the disappointing Red Sox winding up a three game series with the Senators in Washington, there's no major league game today in Boston.

However, the baseball fans have enough food for thought to bridge the open date.

During his recent visit, Manager Ossie Vitt declared that his Indians would have had the American League pennant in the well known "bat" if they'd been able to beat the Browns.

Apparently, Ossie knows his Indians, for yesterday Fred Haney's lowly Mound City outfit hung a couple of defeats on his charges, in Cleveland, all places.

YANKS MAKE BIG GAIN

Then, the Chicago White Sox, after choking up during the recent Cleveland Indian invasion, turned on the Detroit Tigers, took both ends of a twin bill and made it possible for the New York Yankees to move up into second place, three and one half games in arrears of the pacesetter Vitt men.

By virtue of their even break with the Athletics, the Yankees gained a full game on Cleveland and Detroit and are now in second place by a margin of .0009 percentage points.

Right now, the cry is "The Yanks are coming." By the middle of the month, it will be "The Yanks are going to their fifth consecutive American League pennant."

The Yankees are breaking down both Cleveland and Detroit. In fact, there isn't a club in Bill Harbridge's organization that wouldn't tighten up under the same circumstances.

SOX BLEW CHANCE

Although they were below par for about half the season and haven't as yet displayed their old time ability to powder that old apple, the Yankees have been playing the best ball in the American League for about a month. They have been getting the pitching and have been playing real baseball.

If they had any chance of getting back in the race, the Red Sox blew their chances yesterday when they suffered a double defeat at the hands of the Washington Senators.

The Red Sox let "Lefty" Grove down again yesterday. The veteran southpaw was beaten, 1 to 0, in a 13-inning pitchers' battle with young Sid Hudson.

CALLED BY DARKNESS

Ken Cline, outfielder, three Sox hurriers to take the second game, 5 to 4. It was called after six innings because of darkness. The Grove-Hudson duel took two hours and 55 minutes.

The opener was a pitching masterpiece and a hard defeat for the 40-year-old Grove who needs but eight victories for a lifetime record of 300 games won.

Over the 13 innings, he scattered eight safeties while his 22-year-old rookie opponent allowed 10 in winning his fourteenth game of the year.

It had been believed that Lefty might be out for the season when he chipped a bone in his foot, but he showed no signs that the injury troubled him as he set the Senators down without a real threat until the 13th.

Buddy Lewis started Washington's 13th with a ringing double to right. Grove walked Gerald Walker, and Cecil Travis moved both runners with a sacrifice. Jimmy Bloodworth was purposely

Narrow Escape By Alice Aids Net Nationals

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—The national singles tennis tourney got the opening day shot in the arm it needed.

First to walk out on the bright green turf in the Forest Hills Stadium where she has ruled for the past two years was Alice Marble, the tourney's glamorous girl. She was to play Barbara Strohhair, a Philadelphia Miss boasting a local ranking—and a lot of determination.

25 Huskies Answer Call For Football

Coach Jimmy Dunn greeted 25 Northeastern football candidates this morning at Huntington Field, Brookline, to start preparations for the most testing schedule in Husky history.

Morning and afternoon sessions will be held the rest of the week.

The Huskies ultimately will field a squad of 40 players, but summer job commitments kept several of the regulars out for another week. Capt. Dean Williams, former all-star center at Pawnee, Neb., headed the veterans reporting today. Williams has been converted to tackle at Northeastern and will be a 200-pound fixture at that position.

Other veterans who reported were Charlie Abend of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., guard; Phil Sheridan of Malden, back; Ronnie Tubbs, Hartford, Ct., back; Abe Wingard, Boston, back; Al Olson, Dorchester, guard, and Ernie Colantonio, Newton, end.

MENARD QUINCY VICTOR

Al Menard of Fiskdale won the 10-mile road race sponsored by the William Reddish A. C. at Quincy yesterday. His elapsed time was 68 min. 48 seconds and corrected time 64:48.

Johnny Kelley of the Boston Edison A. A. finished sixth and won the time prize. The elapsed time for the distance was 67:38 and corrected time 61:08.

330-Tee Off in C. Y. O. Golf

The first annual Catholic Youth Organization golf championship entries so exceeded expectations that it will be a problem for the unexpectedly large field of 330 which entered to complete the course at Fankapog, Canton, before darkness sets in, today.

It didn't look very exciting and the sparse crowd wasn't overly receptive.

ALICE SLIPPING?

But when the Philadelphia girl won the first two games and later commanded a 3-1 lead the interest in the match—and the tournament—perked up. Miss Marble finally won the set, 6-3. She was extended to win the next, 6-4.

Stories are rife around the club house saying Sarah Palfrey's new coach, Tom Stow, had worked wonders with her game—as witness last week's exhibition win over Alice, by 6-3, 6-2.

Some of the veterans reasoned that if Alice's game showed some vague signs of slipping, and if little Miss Palfrey did it once she could do it again, the women's division might not be as lop-sided as was feared.

Helen Jacobs, herself four times national champion before the Marble reign began, was asked about the possibility. "Maybe this is the year. Stranger things have happened. But I wouldn't bet on it," she said.

DOUBLE UPSET

The men's sector needed no such artificial stimulus yesterday. Right off the bat Gardnar Mulloy, the Florida flash, bowed to Hal Surface 7-5, 6-4, 6-3 and before the crowd got over that upset, young Jack Kramer of California outplayed Gilbert Hunt of Washington, D. C., the nation's ninth ranked star, 3-6, 8-6, 6-6, 8-6.

Some good tennis flowed from other racquets, too. Frank Guernsey, the intercollegiate champion from Rice Institute, Ernie Sutter, one time college king pin, "Ood" Sidney Wood and Johnny Daeg, and pretty Pauline Betz, of Los Angeles, who may some day wear the national title, all came through handily as a Labor Day crowd of 5000 applauded politely.

Woods Wins Scotch Double

Sun-tanned Harlan Woods, who won both the Walter Scott mile and the 880-yard run, and Eino Pentti, a flying Finn from the New York A. C., who copped the six miler at the Scottish games held at Caledonian Grove in West Hoxbury.

The Braemar Highland Games and Picnic, which had their inception 87 years ago were attended by some 3500 clansmen, their families and friends.

There are 112 in the senior division and 218 in the junior division.

The Rev. George M. Dowd, C. Y. O. director, was very enthused at the turnout and is expected to announce that the golfing tournament will now become a permanent feature of the C. Y. O. sports activities.

The St. Thomas Organization of Jamaica Plain has the largest individual entry with 40, including the three McGonigle brothers, Billy Burke, 1940 Caddy Country Club champion, and John Frenckergast. The group in the 18-hole medal competition teed off at 8:00 a. m. this morning.

SLAMIN' SAM SPEECHLESS

HERSHEY, Pa., Sept. 3 (AP)—Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., today joined the select handful of professional golfers who have won both the medal and the match play championships of the United States and once again the triumph was at the expense of Sam Sneed, the luckless.

Nelson, open king in 1939, won the P. G. A. title for the first time yesterday. He defeated Sneed by one hole in a rousing 36-hole final that wound up in a blaze of brilliant shots.

Sneed is still wondering how he lost this one. The West Virginia slugger has dropped a lot of big tournaments before by folding up at critical moments but this time it was different.

Sommy threw a final round 68, five under par, at Nelson and it didn't do him any good. Said Sam sadly:

"I don't know what I have to do to crash in there. I guess I'll just never win a big one."

Nelson simply outplayed Sneed at the important time. He had the championship almost on ice for a time, hovering around a two or three hole advantage, and then in the home stretch got caught in Sneed's final and gallant try.

Sommy pulled even with Nelson on the 30th hole.

They came through the 33d with par fours and then Nelson turned loose a thunderbolt. He ripped a smashing tee shot, but a short iron four feet from the pin and his birdie three squared the match.

Both poured long tee shots off the 417-yard 34th hole.

Byron plucked his next sliff. It hit into the green, one foot from the cup for a sure birdie three.

They halted the 35th and home hole to end the match.

Sports Review

By International News Service
 Byron Nelson proves himself one of the toughest men and greatest iron players in winning National Professional Golf title.

American League pennant race still wide open; New York Yankees moved into second place in American League.

Gardner Mulloy, Gil Hunt and Francis Shields defeated in first round of National Tennis Championships at Forest Hills.

Lynn Man Held on Automobile Charges
 Paul Sullivan, 21, of South Commun at Lynn, was held on automobile charges by Lynn police today after officers traced his tracks on a rain-soaked pavement.

Patrolman Abraham Ames arrested Sullivan on charges of leaving the scene of an accident after an alleged hit-and-run collision at Broad and Union sts.

75 Grid Candidates Report to Layden

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 4 (AP)—Twenty-five ambitious young muscle men will report to Head Coach Elmer Layden next week, but only one of them was a Notre Dame regular in 1939.

At first glance, this sounds like a doubtful report on the always title-minded fighting Irish of 1940, but it is far from that. True, Notre Dame said goodbye to 17 lettermen including 10 starters in June, but the potential stars on Layden's squad are almost a dime a dozen.

Tom Gallagher, sturdy left tackle, is the only surviving regular from the Irish eleven which won seven of nine games and scored 100 points to 73 for the opposition. But the Irish last season, more conservative than usual, had many a close call, winning only one game by more than a touchdown and four others by three points or less.

LAYDEN HOPEFUL

But Layden, who gets along quite well without a crying towel, is full of hope and enthusiasm for his 1940 squad.

"They are a great bunch of boys," he says. "You should have seen them work in the spring. We've got about as much speed and talent as we usually have, although we need more reserve power especially at left halfback and center."

Barring injuries, 185-pound Bob Hargrave, firebrand field general, has the quarterback spot nailed down. He figures to give the team a more daring type of play than the departed Steve Sitko.

Bob Saggau, injured most of last year, will be at left half. Little and nimble Steve Bagarius at right half and Capt. Milt Piepul, leading ground gainer last fall, at fullback. Aid for the unit will come from Quarterback Walt O'Meara. Halfbacks Bill McGannon, Don Hogan, Steve Juzwik, Bernie Crimmins, Joe Frokup, and Fullbacks Al Lee, Joe Postupack and Bob Leonard.

Despite the scarcity of regulars Notre Dame has six lettermen fixed in the line. Layden is best fixed at the tackle. Letterman Jim Brutz will help Gallagher at left and Paul Lillis and Henry Brosey on the right side. Pete Kelly returns at left guard and 360-pound John Gubulich at right guard and John O'Brien at right end rounds out the available letter winners in the line.

George Rasas, handicapped by injuries in the past, is ticketed to succeed All-American Bill Kerr at left end with Phil Sheridan, a likely-looking side at that spot. Ed Sullivan and Howard Korth rate as top guard reserves and John Kovatch is O'Brien's side at end.

The one-two-three centers are gone, leaving Bob Osterman, converted end to handle the spot. The reserve spot is wide open. The schedule:

Oct. 5, College of the Pacific; 12, Georgia Tech; 19, Carnegie Tech; 26, Illinois at Champaign; Nov. 2, Army at New York; 9, Navy at Baltimore; 16, Iowa, 23, Northwestern at Detroit; 30, Southern California at Los Angeles.

Tarzan Wins 12-Mile Run

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 3 (AP)—Elliott W. Myer, "Tarzan" Brown of Westerly, won first place and the time prize in negotiating the 12 mile course of the city of Providence Labor Day run in 1 hr. 6 minutes, 35 seconds.

After conceding as high as 6 1/2 minutes to some of the members of his field and 1 1/2 minutes to Frank Darragh of the Norfolk Y. M. C. A., Brown and Pavson started from scratch, but Brown wasted no time reaching the field of early starters. He was 200 yards back of Darragh and the same distance ahead of Pavson four miles along the course, and at the half-way mark he was close behind Darragh. He defeated Darragh by two minutes, actual time.

Devine Faces Toughest Field In Dilboy Finals

The going will be a little tougher than anticipated for former New England champion, Pat Devine, when he tries to capture the Diamond Belt light-heavyweight title in the floodlight show at Dilboy Field, Somerville, tomorrow night.

Devine, one of three N. E. titlists to go to the boxing wars in the 15 bouts Dilboy Post program, is slated to meet plenty of competition and leather from the mitt-throwing Bill Fitzpatrick, Arlington, in particular.

In the elimination series Devine gained his place in the finals by whipping Fitzpatrick, but the Arlington boy was not to be pushed aside. In another show, Fitzpatrick romped to a berth in these championships and will be seeking revenge on the Cambridge battler for his earlier defeat. Other candidates in the 175's will be Pat Santoro, Norwood, and John Adukonis, South Boston, with John Nazzaro, Revere, as alternate.

In the 128's, a final pitting Al Storza, North End, and Max Pierra, Lowell, would be pleasing to the fans. Storza is the Golden Glove champ and interstate victor while Pierra defeated State Champ Francis Doyle, alternate, to enter these finals. Mert Hunt, Revere, and George Dresser, South Boston, complete the quartet of contestants.

6 Lawrence Boxers Compete in Medford

There'll be six Lawrence boys competing for top honors in four classes Friday night when the 101st Infantry Post returns to the amateur boxing wars at Radio Bowl, Medford, in the first floodlight show of the fall season.

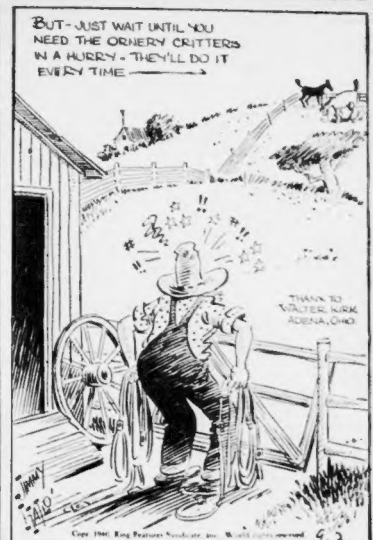

Joe Vaillancourt, in the 135-pound class head the team from the Merrimack Valley.

Others in the group include Bill Davis, also in the 135's, George Arundel and Ed Spidons, in the 118's, Tom McCoy in the 128's, and Roland Roy, in the 160's. A Haverhill team has also filed to give the program an inter-city tinge.

Stars Complete Guard Squad

Coach Swede Nelson has his guard squad completed.

Most recent additions to the team are Spencer Manrodt of Brown and Archie Kodrof of Michigan, both of whom will see considerable action at Fenway Park on the evening of September 10, when the Stars and the Washington Redskins clash in the Crosscup-Pishon sponsored game.

Aside from Manrodt and Kodrof Nelson has already signed Bernie Sweeney of Columbia, and Ernie Schwyer, captain of B. C.'s Cotton Bowl club of 1939. There is a strong possibility that one more guard will be added to the roster before the opening gun is fired.

Both Manrodt and Kodrof are big fellows well able to take care of themselves in any kind of company. The former Brown luminary balances the scales at 190 pounds and stands an even six feet. His home is in Newark, N. J. Kodrof is even bigger than Manrodt. He weighs 210 pounds, and is 6 feet 2 inches tall.

On next Sunday, the members of the New England Association, A. A. U., will hold their annual outing at Johnny Bruce's Farm, located on the Concord rd., in Billerica.

The committee in charge of the outing is headed by Bill Downing, of Lynn.

One Driver Killed, Three Hurt in Race

LANGHORNE, Pa., Sept. 3 (AP)—Ed Kretz of Wilmar, Calif., held the national 100-mile motorcycle championship today—won in a race which cost of the life of one driver and injured three others, none seriously.

A Labor Day crowd of 20,000 at the Langhorne Speedway saw George Matheson, 32-year-old Palmyra, N. J., racer hurled to death when his machine skidded coming into the stretch turn on the second lap.

Kretz, driving an Indian, set a time of 72:57.60. James Chann of Bridgton, N. J., was second and Stanley Witniski, Reading, Pa., was third.

All three preliminary races brought new records with Bill Huber of Reading, Pa., going 15 miles in 11 minutes, 4.33 seconds; Albert Weiner, Bronx, N. Y., winning the 10-mile event in 7 minutes, 47.59 seconds; and Leon Newhall, Lynn, Mass., speeding five miles in 4 minutes, 1.67 seconds.

William Reamp, Harrisburg, Pa., broke his leg when his machine crashed into a fence; Norman Schwyer, Utica, N. Y., was bruised when the handlebars of his cycle broke and Vince de Grance also of Utica, was likewise bruised in a spill.

DeMAR WINS 6-MILER

BREWSTER, Me., Sept. 3 (AP)—Clarence DeMar, veteran marathoner from Keene, N. H., won his first race in six years when he covered a six-mile course in 35 minutes, 51 seconds. In 1934 DeMar won the New England championship marathon at Manchester, N. H.

Adams Likes Rough Sea

MARBLEHEAD, Sept. 3 (INS)—To a real sailor, a big blow, even if it is the fringe of a tropical hurricane, is just so much more wind in his sails.

Contemptuous of the storm warnings, Charles Francis Adams, 74 years old, former Secretary of the Navy, braced his legs on the deck behind the helm of his 8-meter Flisby and rode one of the heaviest swells in years to pilot his craft to victory in the ninth championship Corinthian Yacht Club off Marblehead.

The tiny vessel climbed and dived over the six-mile "mountain climbing" roller coaster course while fishing vessels and freighters stayed in port.

passed, filling the bases. Rookie Jack Sanford then lined a single over Ted Williams' head in left field to win the game.

Three Boston errors and a passed ball helped Washington to take the abbreviated second game.

Although their winning streak of six games was broken when they dropped the second game of a double-header to the Dodgers, the Bees had thousands of new boosters yesterday by coming from behind twice and beating the Brooks 7 to 6 in the 11th inning of the opening game.

JAVERY PUTS OUT FIRE
The Dodgers pinned Dick Erickson's ears back in the first inning and pushed across four runs before Alva Javery, the young right hander from North Oxford, took over the mound duties.

Trailing 4-0, the Bees jumped on Freddie Fitzsimmons in their half of the opening frame and tied up the count.

It's been many a moon since any club took as many liberties with Freddie Fitzsimmons' delivery as the Bees did yesterday.

Sibby Sisti started off with a drive thru Pete Reiser, which would have gone for a double or a triple but for the fact that the rookie third sacker, managed to knock down the ball. Then, after Johnny Cooney had drawn a walk, Barna Rowell shot a two-bagger to left center for two runs and scored on Eddie Miller's double after Fitzie had retired Max West and Chet Ross. Gene Moore drove Miller home with the tying run with a sharp single to center and then Fitzie retired in favor of Hugh Casey after Berres had hit safely.

An infield out by Rowell sandwiched between a Cooney single and a West two-bagger put the Bees out in front in the second frame and they managed to hold their slight advantage until the sixth, when the Dodgers bunched three hits, one of which was very questionable, to score two runs, and take over a 6 to 5 lead.

With four runs over the plate and only one down, Al Javery had replaced Dick Erickson in the first round, during which he pitched just one ball to Manager Leo Durocher, who obligingly hit into a double play.

From the first through the fifth innings, Javery retired the Dodgers in one-two-three order, aided and abetted by two great throws by Ray Berres, the first of which picked Pete Reiser off first and the second nailed Pete Coscarart trying to steal.

After yielding three hits and two runs in the 6th, Al Javery settled down again and only three Brooks got on in the next five innings and all a result of passes, one of which was ordered by Casey Stengel.

Barna Rowell drove in the tying run in the 7th, when he singled after Sibby Sisti doubled and moved up a base on Johnny Cooney's sacrifice.

A smash through Pete Coscarart by Sibby Sisti with Gene Moore on second in the 11th gave the Bees the verdict.

Curt Davis had a decided edge over Bill Pridel in the nightcap and the Dodgers breezed through to a 6 to 2 win.

The Bees left for New York today, to play the Giants three games in two days. They will be in the City of Brotherly Love over the week, after laying off Friday.

Thus, except for a layman, technical football books and articles are just a shameful waste of ink and paper. For it is the MAN and not the SYSTEM, plus his facility for coaxing in husky kids which makes for big-time football success. For, although Harvard retained the Houghton system long after F. D. went to his reward, a new administration composed of Bob Fisher and later Arnold Horween and Eddie Casey couldn't make the formula work as F. D. worked it. The reason was that after F. D. Harvard fumigated the premises and the prize kids of yesterday somehow couldn't make the entrance grades or lacked the cash tuition. So Harvard teams began to flop conspicuously.

Soooo, I am still searching for some big name college coach to let down his back hair and confess that a major portion of his success lies in the fungus knees, rye-bread shoulders and billygout skulls of his kids. Maybe Dr. Eddie Anderson will do it. If so, his will be the book of the year.

YANKEES MOVE UP TO SECOND PLACE

EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1940

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
The American League is heading for its wildest windup in modern history. The big Labor Day blowoff, which incidentally brought out 264,000 fans—173,000 in American League parks—just about raised everybody's temperature to the boiling point.

Both the Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers dropped double-headers while the New York Yankees split with the Philadelphia Athletics before 69,940 fans at Yankee Stadium.

The world champions thus moved into second place by a slender percentage margin, 5634 to 5625, over the Detroit Tigers while the lead of the Indians over each now is 3 1/2 games.

REDS CONCEDED FLAG

The National League, which usually stages the big September show, already has virtually awarded the championship to the Cincinnati Reds for another term and the fact that all the first division clubs in that circuit divided the spoils yesterday didn't change matters.

The fact that the Yankees' winning streak finally was sliced at eight games may have furnished some encouragement to their rivals. With Lefty Matuszewske pitching five-hit ball they had no trouble taking the opener from the A's, 6-3. They simply couldn't do anything with the "slider" of Johnny Babe in the nightcap and were shut out, 3-0, on five hits. The outcome gave them a record of 14 victories in 16 games during their home stand.

Cleveland's collapse was another scalp to the credit of the St. Louis Browns, who have made life miserable for every club in the first division.

The unpredictable Vernon Kennedy held the Indians to seven hits in the opener and rapped out three himself to lead the Browns to a 2-1 triumph. In the nightcap Elden Auker, submarine-balled a 3-0 shutout, yielding only five safeties.

TIGERS MEET SAME FATE

The Tigers met the same fate at Chicago, smashing to pieces on the hurling of Bill Dietrich and John Rigney. Julius Solters broke up the game with a single in the eighth for a 2-1 decision. Rigney shut them out 4-0 in the second game with just two hits.

Paul Derringer got his 18th victory by holding the St. Louis Cardinals to five hits as the Cincinnati Reds captured the first game of their doubleheader 2-1. Mort Cooper balked with the bases loaded to let in the winning run.

The figures:

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Philadelphia at New York	69,540
St. Louis at Cleveland	56,452
Detroit at Chicago	27,654
Boston at Washington	23,600
Total	173,686
NATIONAL LEAGUE
St. Louis at Cincinnati	27,863
Chicago at Pittsburgh	26,126
Brooklyn at Boston	23,718
New York at Philadelphia	13,520
Total	91,627
Grand Total	264,103

The Cards managed to hang onto third place by taking the nightcap 7-4.

PIRATES SPLIT

The Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the Chicago Cubs 5-2 for Rip Sewell's 13th triumph, but dropped the nightcap 7-1. The Cubs broke up the latter ball game with five runs in the ninth when Debs Garms muffed a hot grounder with the bases loaded and Bill Nicholson homered with one on.

The Phillies won 11-2 and 6-5 from the New York Giants. aDny Litwhiler drove in six runs in the first game and in the nightcap Bob Egan led off with a homer in the tenth inning to win.

Bees Buy Pair From Farm Club

The Boston Bees bought two players from their farm club at Evansville in the Three-Eye League. It was announced by John Quinn, Bees' secretary.

The new players are Don Manno, a first baseman and outfielder, and Clarence Bray, a center fielder. Bray, a speedy fly hawk, has been hitting for .341, while Manno, who is a handy utility player and fine hitter, is leading the Three-Eye League in runs-batted-in with a total of 163.

Player in Ed Wynn's Musical Revue Consults John E. Warner

BOSTON, Sept. 2 (JW)—Dave Apollon, world famous stage comedian now playing in Ed Wynn's new Musical Revue "Boys and Girls Together," opening Wednesday at the Shubert Theatre, is a funny man, but he is serious about his hair. Like many other leaders in the entertainment and business worlds, he consults John E. Warner. Business today places a high premium on personal appearance, and if you are losing your hair you should, in your own best interests, find out if John E. Warner can help you. Statistics show that 85% of all baldness is due to local scalp conditions which can be checked and corrected if caught in time. But John E. Warner will not accept any case for treatment where the applicant is bald or the hair is too far gone. There is no charge for a private consultation and scalp examination. His offices are conveniently located at 515 Washington Street, near the corner of West Street (opposite R. H. White's). Suite 710-715. Phone Hub. 1705. Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M.—Saturdays to 6 P. M. Fees for treatment are very moderate. There is a separate department for women. Adv.
